Jurors Release Pair In Till Case

No Indictment For Kidnaping

GREENWOOD, Miss., Nov. 9 (AP)—A Leflore County grand jury today declined to indict two white men on charges of kidnaping Emmett Louis Till, 14, Chicago Negro.

The decision freed Roy Bryant, 24, and his half brother, J. W. Milam, 36, of all charges in the famous case.

A trial jury in nearby Sumner six weeks ago found the white storekeepers innocent of murdering Till.

Circuit Judge Arthur Jordan announced the grand jury's decision to waiting newsmen after he discharged the 20-man, all white grand jury.

$10,000 Bonds Canceled

Bryant and Milam reportedly were working in nearby cotton fields and could not be reached immediately for comment.

The grand jury's action canceled the $10,000 bonds each posted for freedom while waiting for a decision in the kidnaping case.

The half brothers were charged in Leflore County with kidnaping last Aug. 28 after Mose Wright, 64, Till's sharecropper uncle, said two white men took Till away for allegedly making obscene remarks to Mrs. Bryant.

A body was found in the Tallahatchie River three days later. Wright and Till's mother, Mrs. Mamie Bradley of Chicago, identified it as Till.

Identification In Doubt

But defense attorneys in the murder trial presented three witnesses, including a doctor and an undertaker, who testified that the body had been in the water too long to be Till.

The jury at the Sumner trial didn't hear Mrs. Bryant's testimony about the remarks.

While the jury was out, Mrs. Bryant testified a Negro had walked into the store, at nearby Money, Miss., put his hands on her waist, and asked her for a date.

"I've been with white women before," she quoted the Negro as saying.

She never identified the Negro.

Wartime Orders Gave GM Diesel Edge, Study Told

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Two locomotive builders testified today the government gave General Motors a "head start" in the diesel-electric field and this helped the corporation become even more dominant in locomotives than in autos.

William F. Lewis, vice president of Alcoa Products, Inc., told a House Judiciary subcommittee that GM got the jump on its rivals during World War II, when the government allocated production responsibility."

General Motors was given the responsibility for mass-producing "road" diesels, Lewis said, and thus had a "tremendous" advantage over other companies who couldn't get hold of materials to make diesel locomotives for "road" service. Road engines are those which pull trains from station to station as contrasted with switching engines.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), chairman of the Senate Antitrust group which is studying GM as an example of corporate "giantism," immediately asked Lewis to supply the subcommittee with copies of the wartime orders.

The senator recalled that it was "frequently alleged at the time" that the War Production Board was staffed with industry people.

"If they didn't exactly favor the companies from which they came," O'Mahoney said, at least they might have been in a position to do so.

"According to your testimony," he told Lewis, "those orders changed the direction of this industry and placed a handicap on the pioneers in the diesel field."

But Bruce Bromley, general counsel for Alco, quickly interposed:

"We have no complaint about this. We feel it was clearly in the national interest."

DENVER, Nov. 9 (AP)—Herbert Hoover Jr. undersecretary of state, said today he is "absolutely not interested" in running for president.

Prisoners On Hunger Strike

BOSTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — Sixteen convicts in the Massachusetts State Prison were on a hunger strike today.

Among them were three who participated in a rebellion last January.

Massachusetts Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald said all were in a segregated group in the so-called Cherry Hill section where the January rebels held guards hostage.

Normal conditions prevail among 473 other convicts, he said.

Oswald, who came to Massachusetts Nov. 1 from Wisconsin, said that comments had been made among convicts in the Cherry Hill area that they were going to "do something sensational to attract attention and to force my hand to get me there to talk with those three men involved in the riot in January of this year."

Oswald said the three leaders of the hunger strike — involved in the January 18-21 rebellion —are Walter Balben, Fritz Swenson and Joseph Flaherty.

Soviet Building Program Blasted, Architects Fired

MOSCOW, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Soviet government tonight condemned the nation's building program as wasteful, over-ornamental and extravagant and fired two chief architects of Moscow.

In one of the biggest official shakeups in recent years, the Central Committee of the Communist party and the Council of Ministers charged that architects and builders had not lived up to programs prepared for them.

The recent trend toward skyscraper construction was called completely unjustified.

The attack was chiefly launched against extravagance in building ornamentation, wasting of funds and "disregard of the needs of the people."

Chief architects A. M. Chechulin and A. N. Vlasov were deprived of their decorations besides being fired.

Two other national architects, identified as Polykov and Boretsky, who built the plush 28-story Leningrad Hotel, were deprived of their Stalin prize laureates, but not discharged outright.

The government and party attack apparently wrote an end to the so-called Western trend in building and left little doubt that the top leaders were heading toward simple, economical construction.

GIVES UP POST — Peter A. Strobel (above), commissioner of public buildings, resigned yesterday, it was announced in Washington by the General Services Administration. Strobel has been under fire for his interest in a firm of consulting engineers. (AP Photofax)

Strobel Resigns $14,800-A-Year Government Job

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Peter A. Strobel resigned under fire from his $14,800 a year job as public buildings commissioner today.

He said he did so because "some people" would seize upon his private business connections to embarrass the Eisenhower administration.

The New York engineer has been under investigation by a House inquiry group. Questions were raised as to the propriety of his acting as the government's real estate chief while retaining a 90 per cent interest in Strobel & Salman, a New York firm of consulting engineers.

Talbott Quit After Probe

Strobel departed with an assertion that he had never used his official position to further his private gain but had come here "only in the hope that I might be of some service to the government."

He is the second high official of the Eisenhower administration to quit this year after a congressional investigation of his outside business interests.

Harold E. Talbott resigned as secretary of the Air Force Aug. 1. In a letter to President Eisenhower, Talbott also said "I would not in any circumstances wish to be a source of embarrassment to you, or to your splended administration."

Any Impropriety Denied

Strobel's resignation, which took effect at the close of business last night, was announced by the General Services Administration, under whose jurisdiction he worked. GSA also released a friendly letter from Administrator Edmund F. Mansure accepting the resignation.

In his letter of resignation, as he had done before a House Judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY), Strobel denied any impropriety.

"It now appears, however," he added, "that no matter how honorable my conduct, and no matter how innocent my intentions, the mere existence of my private business connections will be seized upon by some people to create suspicion and embarrass me and the administration.

"In view of this situation I think it would be better if I returned to my engineering firm."

Caution In Reverse

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—A judge asked John T. O'Brien, 21, today why he stole a car when he had one of his own.

"I was out drinking," O'Brien explained. "I was too drunk to drive my own car."

O'Brien's caution cost him a year in prison.

U. S. Competition In Mid-East Arms Race Ruled Out By Ike

Clashes Retard Peace Search, President Says

DENVER, Nov. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower, "eager to get going" to Washington, closed out Denver business conferences today with a declaration that outbursts of Israeli-Egyptian fighting "retard our search for world peace."

Voicing "deep concern" of all Americans over sharply increased tensions in the Middle East, Eisenhower renewed this country's offer to consider "requests for arms for legitimate self-defense."

But he said "We do not intend to contribute to an arms competition." And he made an indirect but scarcely veiled appeal to Russia to help halt satellite Czechoslovakia's arms shipments to Egypt.

Hoover Reads Statement

Underscoring the importance the chief executive attached to his foreign policy pronouncement were instructions he gave to Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. to read it personally to a press conference at the Denver White House.

Hoover and President Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala were Eisenhower's last official visitors here, less than 48 hours before the President's departure for Washington Friday morning.

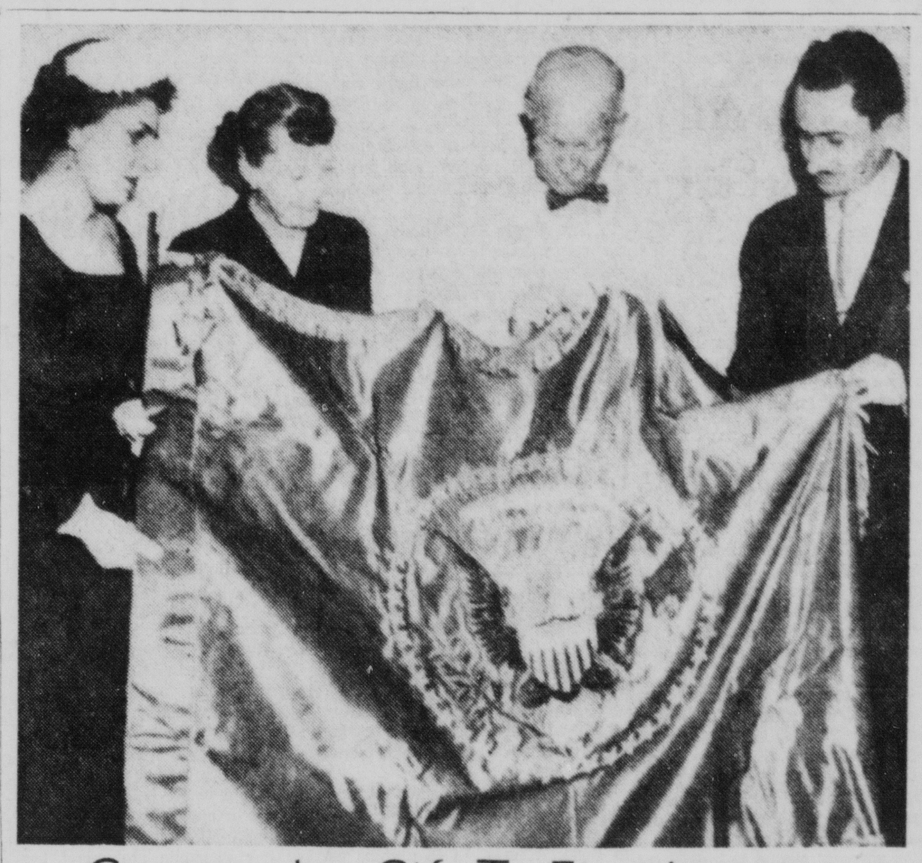

Hoover flew in with Castillo Armas from St. Louis on Eisenhower's plane, Columbine III. He remained behind to discuss international issues with Eisenhower for 30 minutes.

Unusual Meeting

The meeting between the two chiefs of state was unusual in the sense of diplomatic protocol but normal under the circumstances of Eisenhower's continuing convalescence from a Sept. 24 heart attack.

The one participant is a leader of the free world's opposition to international communism, the other spearheaded a revolt that threw out a Red-tinged regime in Guatemala. So they had mutual interests to talk about.

The two chatted for some 25 minutes in the presence of their first ladies, Hoover, and the Guatemalan ambassador to the United States, Col. Jose Luis Cruz-Salazar. That was in a small reception room adjoining Eisenhower's own room at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

Convicts Launch Drive For Funds To Free Woman

ANGOLA, La., Nov. 9 (AP)— A fund raising drive—a new way of raising money for many convicts—has been started at the Louisiana State Penitentiary here.

The purpose of the drive is to get $300 which will be used to free Letha Elizabeth Morris, 31, Alexandria woman whose two-year sentence on a theft charge expired last month.

She is still at Angola because her sentence called for an additional two years in prison if she could not pay a $300 fine.

The collection, which Warden Maurice Sigler says will be allowed to continue, has netted $19 so far.

But Sigler doesn't think the convicts will have too much luck getting money.

"That much money, $300, is pretty hard to raise in a place like this," he commented.

Cabinet Shakeup

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 9 (AP)—Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi today accepted the resignation of Army Minister Gen. Leon Bengoa. Col. Arturo Ossorio Arana was promoted to brigadier general and named to succeed Bengoa.

United Nations Walkout Staged By South Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 9 (AP)—The Union of South Africa walked out of the United Nations today in bitter protest over a U.N. decision to press inquiry into South Africa's racial segregation policies.

It was the second walkout of the 10th General Assembly. France withdrew Sept. 30 because the Assembly voted to take up the question of Algeria.

W. C. du Plessis, chairman of the South African delegation, announced the withdrawal after the U.N. Special Political Committee voted 37-7 for renewing work of a commission created three years ago to study the South African racial situation.

He said it would be for the duration of the present session scheduled to end Dec. 10.

Du Plessis labeled India as the leader in the decision of the Political Committee. He accused India of conducting a "vendetta" against South Africa since virtually the founding of the U.N. 10 years ago.

The United States, among 13 countries which abstained in the voting, had appealed against continuation of the commission. Rep. Chester E. Merrow (R-NH), the U.S. delegate, called its work "of no practical value."

South Africa had boycotted all meetings of the Special Committee dealing with racial segregation, but returned for a vote on a resolution submitted by 17 nations, mostly from the Asian-Arab bloc.

The resolution which now goes before the General Assembly for final approval, called on the Union of South Africa to abide by the U.N. Charter's provisions "to promote the respect of human rights and fundamental freedoms without distinction as to race."

Adlai Statement Set

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP) — Adlai Stevenson will make a statement to newsmen next Tuesday on "the Democratic presidential nomination."

Eden Denounces Russian Tactics

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden tonight accused the Soviet Union of creating war tensions in Europe and the Middle East.

The British leader said it was impossible to reconcile Societ actions with protestations that they wish to end the cold war in the new spirit of Geneva.

Eden denounced attempts to keep Germany divided but reserved his heaviest attack on the Russians for shipping arms to the Arabs.

The Prime Minister gave the traditional outline of British foreign policy at the annual lord mayor's dinner in the City of London.

While describing reports from Geneva as not good, Eden said as a veteran of many negotiations with the Russians that they were not surprising either. And he added, "I have therefore only three comments to make on the present state of discussions at Geneva":

"First, to attempt to keep Germany divided for a further indefinite period, 10 years after the war is ended, adds to the dangers in Europe and is no contribution to peace.

"Secondly, Germany, like other countries, must be free to make her own decision as to her political future by the free voice of her people. In other words, she is entitled to free elections. It is indefensible to hold that free elections cannot take place because the Communist system in East Germany must be preserved.

"Thirdly, the Western nations and Soviet Russia, have reason to recall the experience of past years. Mutual undertakings should therefore be given and taken against any act of aggression in Europe. This is the most effective assurance we have been able to devise. If it can be improved upon, let other suggestions be made."

Helen Hayes Theater

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Actress Helen Hayes is going to have a Broadway theater named after her. The only other living actress so honored is Ethel Barrymore.

The name of the Fulton Theater on W. 46th St. will be changed to the Helen Hayes Theater Nov. 21, her 50th anniversary as an actress.

Israel Plans No Preventive War

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Nov. 9 (AP)—Israel "never will initiate war against anyone," but will "not permit anyone to rob us of a single inch of our land," Prime Minister David Ben Gurion declared today.

The Israeli leader outlined his country's views to Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, chief United Nations truce supervisor, as the world's diplomatic spotlight turned to the potentially explosive Middle East tension. There had been worry expressed that Israel might be thinking in terms of launching preventive war before her Arab neighbors grow too strong.

Egypt's conclusion of a deal for Communist bloc arms has brought sharply into focus a growing struggle between East and West for leadership in the area.

Explaining the arms deal in Cairo today, the Egyptian government charged that "postponements and promises" by Washington on requests for arms forced Egypt to buy weapons from the Communists. This statement apparently was offered as a reply to U. S. Asst. Secretary of State George Allen, who has said in effect that Cairo turned suddenly to the Communists for arms while negotiating with Washington.

Issue Is Kept Alive By New Russian Offer

West Move To End Item 1 Talk Halted By Troop Slash Bid

GENEVA, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Russians kept alive the European security issue in the deadlocked Big Four conference with last-minute proposals tonight. They would pull out half the foreign troops in Germany and sign a nonaggression pact between the Eastern and Western military blocs.

By his surprise maneuver, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov committed the conference to return to his security proposals next week after the end of the discussion on the two remaining points on the agenda—disarmament and East-West contacts.

The new offer interrupted attempts by the three Western foreign ministers to end negotiations on the first agenda point—European security and German reunification. Accusing Russia of a "grave breach of the Geneva spirit" for refusing free German elections, they said further discussions on the point would be futile.

Russian's Proposals

Molotov proposed:

1. Reduction of the number of foreign troops in Germany "by, say, 50 per cent." He set no time limit for this. Last week he had proposed that all foreign troops except "strictly limited contingents" should withdraw within three months.

2. Reduction of the total armed forces of the Big Four powers by a number equivalent to their troops withdrawn from Germany.

3. A nonaggression treaty by the 15-nation Atlantic alliance and the seven-nation Western European Union with the Warsaw pact bloc—Russia and six European satellites.

Molotov Cites "Directive"

Molotov sprang into action in the final phase of today's session, the ninth since the conference opened Oct. 27.

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan had gloomily made a motion to "adjourn further discussion of item 1, if it is not possible to speak of free German elections," and proceed to item 2 tomorrow.

"We cannot do that if we follow our directive," Molotov snapped. "Open the page and you will see that the question of European security is put in the first place. Nevertheless, attempts are being made to push that question into the background and we cannot agree."

Bodies Of Wife, Husband To Rest On Bed In Vault

SALISBURY, N.C., Nov. 9 (AP)—The body of Mrs. Benjamin Freeze of Unity Township will rest beside the body of her husband, in night clothing on a double bed in the family vault at the Unity Presbyterian Church Cemetery.

Mrs. Freeze, 93, died last night at a nursing home. Her husband died 22 years ago.

Before his death, Freeze asked that his body be laid out on the bed, complete with mattress and springs, and specified that room be left on the bed for the body of his wife.

'Bluebird' Hits 200-Plus

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov 9 (AP)—Donald Campbell of England sent the jet powered Bluebird "slightly over 200 miles an hour" late today but was balked by oncoming darkness from making an official try for a new world speed boat record.

Third Of Woodward Estate Is Left In Trust For Wife

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—William Woodward Jr. left a third of his millions in trust for the wife who shot him, but earmarked them eventually for their two sons. The widow got only $2,500 in cash.

Woodward's will disposing of an estimated 10-million-dollar estate was filed today in surrogate's court.

The 35-year-old sportsman was shot to death Oct. 30 by his wife, Ann, a blonde former showgirl. She said she hit him accidently after fear of a prowler led her to fire a shotgun in their darkened Oyster Bay, N.Y., home.

The will was datcd Dec. 14, 1948. That was five years before Woodward inherited Belair Stud, the family's noted Maryland thoroughbred stable. As a result, there is no provision in the will covering the stable or its crack 3-year-old money winner, Nashua.

A spokesman for the family said it will be up to the trustees of the estate to decide whether to continue operation of Belair Stud in behalf of the Woodwards or to sell it. Trustees are attorney John W. Ludewig of Maywood, N.J., and the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co.

The same spokesman said Woodward during his lifetime made financial provisions for his 39-year-old wife. He declined to say what Woodward gave her. Some published reports have put the figure as high as two million dollars.

Demos See Bright Omens For 1956 In Off-Year Victories

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Democrats drew fresh hope for 1956 today from scattered election victories that gave them a record-smashing victory in the Kentucky governorship race and pushed them ahead in such battleground states as Pennsylvania, Indiana and Connecticut.

There were some Republican advances too, here and there, but virtually complete returns from yesterday's state and municipal elections showed a clear net advantage to the Democrats in the matter of organiational strength for next year's presidential election.

Pennsylvania, Indiana and Connecticut—with a total of 53 electoral votes—all went Republican in the 1952 election while Kentucky voted Democratic by a razor-thin 700 votes.

Interest focused today on Indiana where sweeping Democratic gains in mayoral contests pointed up Democratic claims of farm belt unrest over Eisenhower administration agricultural policies.

Pennsylvania voters gave encouragement to the Democrats, too. Philadelphia elected Democrat Richardson Dilworth as its mayor with a resounding 130,000-vote margin over the Republican who ran with President Eisenhower's personal endorsement, W. Thacher Longstreth. The GOP suffered a net loss of five in Pennsylvania mayoral elections and suffered other reverses as well.

In Kentucky, former Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler was elected governor by a landslide approaching 150,000 votes over Republican Edwin R. Denney—despite a bitter primary fight that split the Democratic party.

And in Connecticut Democrats solidified 1954 victories by capturing the city administration of Waterbury—in GOP hands for eight years—and pushing ahead elsewhere in the state's municipal elections.

In other states, results were less conclusive. Democrats scored a net gain of one in New York mayoral races—an outcome claimed by both sides as a victory. To the surprise of both parties, which had supported it, a 750-million-dollar highway improvement bond issue was rejected by Empire State voters in an apparent revolt against more taxes and more spending.

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall contended the off-year results depended on local issues and "had no national significance."

Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler claimed a growing trend toward his own party, however, and pointed to the Indiana outcome and to the rejection of Philadelphia's Longstreth and other Eisenhower-endorsed candidates as evidence.

Convicts Launch Drive For Funds To Free Woman

ANGOLA, La., Nov. 9 (AP)— A fund raising drive—a new way of raising money for many convicts—has been started at the Louisiana State Penitentiary here.

The purpose of the drive is to get $300 which will be used to free Letha Elizabeth Morris, 31, Alexandria woman whose two-year sentence on a theft charge expired last month.

She is still at Angola because her sentence called for an additional two years in prison if she could not pay a $300 fine.

The collection, which Warden Maurice Sigler says will be allowed to continue, has netted $19 so far.

But Sigler doesn't think the convicts will have too much luck getting money.

"That much money, $300, is pretty hard to raise in a place like this," he commented.

United Nations Walkout Staged By South Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 9 (AP)—The Union of South Africa walked out of the United Nations today in bitter protest over a U.N. decision to press inquiry into South Africa's racial segregation policies.

It was the second walkout of the 10th General Assembly. France withdrew Sept. 30 because the Assembly voted to take up the question of Algeria.

W. C. du Plessis, chairman of the South African delegation, announced the withdrawal after the U.N. Special Political Committee voted 37-7 for renewing work of a commission created three years ago to study the South African racial situation.

He said it would be for the duration of the present session scheduled to end Dec. 10.

Du Plessis labeled India as the leader in the decision of the Political Committee. He accused India of conducting a "vendetta" against South Africa since virtually the founding of the U.N. 10 years ago.

The United States, among 13 countries which abstained in the voting, had appealed against continuation of the commission, Rep. Chester E. Merrow (R-NH), the U.S. delegate, called its work "of no practical value."

South Africa had boycotted all meetings of the Special Committee dealing with racial segregation, but returned for a vote on a resolution submitted by 17 nations, mostly from the Asian-Arab bloc.

The resolution which now goes before the General Assembly for final approval, called on the Union of South Africa to abide by the U.N. Charter's provisions "to promote the respect of human rights and fundamental freedoms without distinction as to race."

Eden Denounces Russian Tactics

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden tonight accused the Soviet Union of creating war tensions in Europe and the Middle East.

The British leader said it was impossible to reconcile Societ actions with protestations that they wish to end the cold war in the new spirit of Geneva.

Eden denounced attempts to keep Germany divided but reserved his heaviest attack on the Russians for shipping arms to the Arabs.

The Prime Minister gave the traditional outline of British foreign policy at the annual lord mayor's dinner in the City of London.

While describing reports from Geneva as not good, Eden said as a veteran of many negotiations with the Russians that they were not surprising either. And he added, "I have therefore only three comments to make on the present state of discussions at Geneva":

"First, to attempt to keep Germany divided for a further indefinite period, 10 years after the war is ended, adds to the dangers in Europe and is no contribution to peace.

"Secondly, Germany, like other countries, must be free to make her own decision as to her political future by the free voice of her people. In other words, she is entitled to free elections. It is indefensible to hold that free elections cannot take place because the Communist system in East Germany must be preserved.

"Thirdly, the Western nations and Soviet Russia, have reason to recall the experience of past years. Mutual undertakings should therefore be given and taken against any act of aggression in Europe. This is the most effective assurance we have been able to devise. If it can be improved upon, let other suggestions be made."

Helen Hayes Theater

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Actress Helen Hayes is going to have a Broadway theater named after her. The only other living actress so honored is Ethel Barrymore.

The name of the Fulton Theater on W. 46th St. will be changed to the Helen Hayes Theater Nov. 21, her 50th anniversary as an actress.

Israel Plans No Preventive War

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Nov. 9 (AP)—Israel "never will initiate war against anyone," but will "not permit anyone to rob us of a single inch of our land," Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion declared today.

The Israeli leader outlined his country's views to Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, chief United Nations truce supervisor, as the world's diplomatic spotlight turned to the potentially explosive Middle East tension. There had been worry expressed that Israel might be thinking in terms of launching preventive war before her Arab neighbors grow too strong.

Egypt's conclusion of a deal for Communist bloc arms has brought sharply into focus a growing struggle between East and West for leadership in the area.

Explaining the arms deal in Cairo today, the Egyptian government charged that "postponements and promises" by Washington on requests for arms forced Egypt to buy weapons from the Communists. This statement apparently was offered as a reply to U. S. Asst. Secretary of State George Allen, who has said in effect that Cairo turned suddenly to the Communists for arms while negotiating with Washington.

Issue Is Kept Alive By New Russian Offer

West Move To End Item 1 Talk Halted By Troop Slash Bid

GENEVA, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Russians kept alive the European security issue in the deadlocked Big Four conference with last-minute proposals tonight. They would pull out half the foreign troops in Germany and sign a nonaggression pact between the Eastern and Western military blocs.

By his surprise maneuver, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov committed the conference to return to his security proposals next week after the end of the discussion on the two remaining points on the agenda—disarmament and East-West contacts.

The new offer interrupted attempts by the three Western foreign ministers to end negotiations on the first agenda point—European security and German reunification. Accusing Russia of a "grave breach of the Geneva spirit" for refusing free German elections, they said further discussions on the point would be futile.

Russian's Proposals

Molotov proposed:

1. Reduction of the number of foreign troops in Germany "by, say, 50 per cent." He set no time limit for this. Last week he had proposed that all foreign troops except "strictly limited contingents" should withdraw within three months.

2. Reduction of the total armed forces of the Big Four powers by a number equivalent to their troops withdrawn from Germany.

3. A nonaggression treaty by the 15-nation Atlantic alliance and the seven-nation Western European Union with the Warsaw pact bloc—Russia and six European satellites.

Molotov Cites "Directive"

Molotov sprang into action in the final phase of today's session, the ninth since the conference opened Oct. 27.

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan had gloomily made a motion to "adjourn further discussion of item 1, if it is not possible to speak of free German elections," and proceed to item 2 tomorrow.

"We cannot do that if we follow our directive," Molotov snapped. "Open the page and you will see that the question of European security is put in the first place. Nevertheless, attempts are being made to push that question into the background and we cannot agree."

Bodies Of Wife, Husband To Rest On Bed In Vault

SALISBURY, N.C., Nov. 9 (AP)—The body of Mrs. Benjamin Freeze of Unity Township will rest beside the body of her husband, in night clothing on a double bed in the family vault at the Unity Presbyterian Church Cemetery.

Mrs. Freeze, 93, died last night at a nursing home. Her husband died 22 years ago.

Before his death, Freeze asked that his body be laid out on the bed, complete with mattress and springs, and specified that room be left on the bed for the body of his wife.

'Bluebird' Hits 200-Plus

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov 9 (AP)—Donald Campbell of England sent the jet powered Bluebird "slightly over 200 miles an hour" late today but was balked by oncoming darkness from making an official try for a new world speed boat record.

Third Of Woodward Estate Is Left In Trust For Wife

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—William Woodward Jr. left a third of his millions in trust for the wife who shot him, but earmarked them eventually for their two sons. The widow got only $2,500 in cash.

Woodward's will disposing of an estimated 10-million-dollar estate was filed today in surrogate's court.

The 35-year-old sportsman was shot to death Oct. 30 by his wife, Ann, a blonde former showgirl. She said she hit him accidently after fear of a prowler led her to fire a shotgun in their darkened Oyster Bay, N.Y., home.

The will was datcd Dec. 14, 1948. That was five years before Woodward inherited Belair Stud, the family's noted Maryland thoroughbred stable. As a result, there is no provision in the will covering the stable or its crack 3-year-old money winner, Nashua.

A spokesman for the family said it will be up to the trustees of the estate to decide whether to continue operation of Belair Stud in behalf of the Woodwards or to sell it. Trustees are attorney John W. Ludewig of Maywood, N.J., and the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co.

The same spokesman said Woodward during his lifetime made financial provisions for his 39-year-old wife. He declined to say what Woodward gave her. Some published reports have put the figure as high as two million dollars.

Demos See Bright Omens For 1956 In Off-Year Victories

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Democrats drew fresh hope for 1956 today from scattered election victories that gave them a record-smashing victory in the Kentucky governorship race and pushed them ahead in such battleground states as Pennsylvania, Indiana and Connecticut.

There were some Republican advances too, here and there, but virtually complete returns from yesterday's state and municipal elections showed a clear net advantage to the Democrats in the matter of organiational strength for next year's presidential election.

Pennsylvania, Indiana and Connecticut—with a total of 53 electoral votes—all went Republican in the 1952 election while Kentucky voted Democratic by a razor-thin 700 votes.

Interest focused today on Indiana where sweeping Democratic gains in mayoral contests pointed up Democratic claims of farm belt unrest over Eisenhower administration agricultural policies.

Pennsylvania voters gave encouragement to the Democrats, too. Philadelphia elected Democrat Richardson Dilworth as its mayor with a resounding 130,000-vote margin over the Republican who ran with President Eisenhower's personal endorsement, W. Thacher Longstreth. The GOP suffered a net loss of five in Pennsylvania mayoral elections and suffered other reverses as well.

In Kentucky, former Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler was elected governor by a landslide approaching 150,000 votes over Republican Edwin R. Denney—despite a bitter primary fight that split the Democratic party.

And in Connecticut Democrats solidified 1954 victories by capturing the city administration of Waterbury—in GOP hands for eight years—and pushing ahead elsewhere in the state's municipal elections.

In other states, results were less conclusive. Democrats scored a net gain of one in New York mayoral races—an outcome claimed by both sides as a victory. To the surprise of both parties, which had supported it, a 750-million-dollar highway improvement bond issue was rejected by Empire State voters in an apparent revolt against more taxes and more spending.

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall contended the off-year results depended on local issues and "had no national significance."

Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler claimed a growing trend toward his own party, however, and pointed to the Indiana outcome and to the rejection of Philadelphia's Longstreth and other Eisenhower-endorsed candidates as evidence.

"Spirit Of Geneva"

Post Office Declines To Testify About Ban On Red Publications

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Geneva spirit had pretty well evaporated at Geneva today but House investigators of government secrecy found it lingering on in Washington.

When they got around to looking into a postal ban on foreign Communist publications, they were told by the Post Office Department that mum's the word.

Abe McGregor Goff, post office solicitor, begged off testifying publicly about the policy of withholding from the U.S. mails foreign publications deemed to contain Communist propaganda.

The State Department had passed him the word, he said, that this problem should not be aired publicly until "after the Geneva conference."

Legislators figured this State Department directive was a bit out of date. It evently stemmed from the days when "Geneva spirit" meant wholesale exchanges of smiles between Russia and the West. The directive presumably was aimed at not rocking the boat, not angering the Russians.

But even as Goff drew down the silence curtain, Foreign Minister Molotov had made clear that Russia would only stand for German unification on Russian terms. Westerners said this would mean Sovietizing all Germany — Secretary of State Dulles declared Russian policy would perpetuate a danger to the peace of Europe.

However, in Washington Goff stuck to the State Department directive concerning Communist publications.

He did testify that he was embarrassed at learning of delays in delivery of other publications—the London Economist and certain pamphlets of the American Friends (Quaker) Service Committee.

"I almost literally jumped out of my seat," he said, when he learned that the Economist, which he described as a distinguished magazine, was delayed for weeks by customs officials in New York City.

He blamed this on "some overofficious underlings" and added: "To my knowledge there has been no scrutiny whatever of the Economist nor has there been any scrutiny of any standard English paper or magazine."

The Friends, Goff said, "were certainly entitled to an apology "because an explanation of the department's position on some of its publications was unduly delayed. He said he went to Philadelphia to deliver such an apology personally.

UAW, Packard Agree On Pact

DETROIT, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Studebaker-Packard Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers Union reached agreement today on a new three-year contract covering 10,000 Packard division employes in Detroit. It carries a layoff pay plan.

The corporation and the union still are negotiating on a contract to cover 9,000 Studebaker division employes at South Bend, Ind. Local issues involving seniority and work standards have snarled bargaining there.

The Packard division agreement provides the same layoff pay scheme negotiated with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—60 to 65 per cent of take home pay, when unemployment compensation is included, for up to 26 weeks of idleness.

It also carries a similar six-cent hourly increase for all workers, plus an additional eight cents for skilled tradesmen. Both are retroactive to Sept. 1, when the old contract expired. Salaried employes represented by the union were granted a full union shop and a three per cent annual improvement factor raise.

U.S. And Britain Study Economic Aid For Egypt

GENEVA, Nov. 9 (AP)—The United States and Britain today shifted the focus of the East-West struggle for Middle Eastern power from guns to bread.

In an unannounced conference, Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan pondered ways of raising money to help Egypt realize her old dream of harnessing the waters of the Nile.

Russia already has offered aid to the Cairo government for the nearly 600-million-dollar project for a high dam at Aswan and other irrigation schemes. Even as the ministers were meeting, word came from Cairo that a Communist East German delegation is discussing the Aswan undertaking with Premier Abdel Gamal Nasser's government.

Informants said Dulles and Macmillan went into the talks convinced on at least three immediate issues:

1. Informal Western efforts have failed to halt Soviet bloc arms sales in the troubled Moslem world.

2. The West, accordingly, must use every means to promote a peace settlement between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

3. Russian participation in the high dam project would be a master stroke of Kremlin diplomacy that would jolt the Allied position in the region for years to come.

France Names New Governor For Morocco

PARIS, Nov. 9 (AP)—France today named a new governor for Morocco in expectation that Sultan Mohamed Ben Youssef will return there next week and demand home rule.

The government picked Andre Dubois, a career administrator who was born of French parents in Bone, Algeria. In 16 months as Paris police chief he made a name for himself by silencing noisy auto horns and barring trucks from the capital's narrow streets in busy afternoon hours.

Dubois' title will be French resident general in Morocco. Under the present treaty between France and Morocco, he will not only represent French interests as ambassador to the Sultan but handle all foreign affairs. Under France's system of "direct administration," the resident general is the real ruler of the "protectorate."

Ben Youssef, exiled for his nationalism but brought back under nationalist pressure, wants to change all that. The French government is willing, but how much freedom Morocco will get depends on negotiation.

The test of Dubois' talent will be his efforts to get agreement without further violence, especially the kind now tearing apart his native Algeria. In the latest incident the French reported killing at least 50 rebels and destroying with artillery fire the straw villages that sheltered them. The French said they lost six men.

Burdett Formally Enters West Va. Governor Race

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 9 (AP)—Joe F. Burdett, who announced on Sept. 6 that he would seek the Democratic nomination for governor, formally filed his certificate of candidacy late today.

In doing so, Burdett took cognizance of widespread rumors to the effect that he either would back out, or be influenced not to make the race this year.

"It is my conviction, as well as that of others," he said, "that this action will definitely eliminate any doubts that may have prevailed in anyone's thinking and curb any such future rumors.

"This is conclusive evidence that I do desire to be my party's nominee for governor."

A representative for Burdett called at the Secretary of State's office around 4 p.m. He handed Burdett's certificate to Secretary of State D. Pitt O'Brien, along with Burdett's personal check covering the $175 filing fee.

Burdett, who resigned this year as president of the State Board of Control after a tiff with Gov. William C. Marland, listed his home address as Point Pleasant.

Since leaving the Board of Control last June, Burdett has continued to maintain an office in Charleston.

Experts At Odds On Death Cause

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9 (AP) — Experts disagreed today as to what killed Mrs. Margaret Price whose husband, Milton, is on trial on a murder charge.

The Gas and Electric Co. inspector's wife was found dead last Jan. 17.

The State claims she died of asphyxia due to strangulation.

A contrary view came from Dr. Henry L. Wollenweber, a former State medical examiner. He testified in his opinion the 32-year-old woman died of "accidental asphyxiation" due to complex causes that included drunkenness, shock and exhaustion.

Dr. Russell S. Fisher, chief medical examiner, testified for the State that the asphyxiation was "due to manual compression of the airway high in the throat, and possibly interference with the airway of the mouth and nose."

Dr. Wollenweber said he believed the woman had fallen on her face and that clothing under her chin, plus her alcoholic state and her exhaustion, brought about asphyxiation.

Dr. Fisher contended the .24 per cent alcoholic content of the woman's blood showed definite intoxication but not such as would cause coma that might bring self strangulation.

Fire In Apartment Of Singer's Ex-Wife Kills Ex-Salesman

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9 (AP) — A former clothing salesman burned to death early today in the apartment of Mrs. Grace Tibbett, ex-wife of opera star Lawrence Tibbett, police said.

Mrs. Tibbett was visiting at the home of friends.

Firemen said that Glenn Morgan, 45, apparently had fallen asleep while smoking a cigarette.

Mrs. Tibbett told police Morgan was "a good friend the past two years. He came to tell me goodby as I had planned a trip to Phoenix."

Cpl. Dickenson's Plea Rejected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—The U.S. Court of Military Appeals today turned down a request to reconsider its decision upholding the court martial conviction of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson.

Dickenson, 24, of Cracker's Neck, Va., was convicted a year and a half ago of unlawfully communicating with his Chinese captors while a prisoner of war in Korea. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The court of military appeals last September rejected Dickenson's arguments that he was convicted on insufficient evidence and that the court martial's chief law officer made a number of prejudicial errors.

Dickenson's attorney, Guy Emery, asked the high court to reconsider its decision, contending it had not satisfactorily taken into consideration the question of Communist brain washing of prisoners.

New Guard Unit To Man Gun Posts

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9 (AP)—Maryland is establishing a new National Guard unit to man four anti-aircraft gun sites set up for the defense of Baltimore.

The new unit is the 683rd Anti-aircraft Artillery Battalion.

The four gun posts on an arc east of the city originally were built and manned by the Army. The Army units now are being converted to the operation of guided missiles or Nike batteries on the outer perimeter of the city's defense.

As soon as the new National Guard unit is ready, four 90mm anti-aircraft guns will be emplaced at each of the four sites. They also will be equipped with the latest radar and communications equipment.

Plane Crash Cause?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Gerben Sonderman, pilot for Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands, suffered from a heart ailment which could have caused the plane crash in which Sonderman was killed last Oct. 20, the Civil Aeronautics Administration said today.

Butler Hits CTC "Iron Curtain"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md) today urged District of Columbia Commissioners to "lift the iron curtain" on negotiations to find an operator for Washington's bus and streetcar system.

"The secrecy surrounding these negotiations," he said in a statement, "enhances the fear many of us entertain when Congress lifted the franchise of CTC (Capital Transit Co.), that we are headed for public operation of our public transit system."

At that time last summer Butler said it seemed to him that many officials "permitted their animosity toward Louis Wolfson (CTC chairman) to blind them to the problem of adequately replacing CTC."

"But after CTC had been 'run out of town' by Sen. Morse (D-Ore) with able assistance from the District officials," Butler said today, "there suddenly seemed to be no takers with adequate resources and managerial ability to fill the void. So to shield their red faces, the District commissioners rung down the iron curtain while they drummed up some interest.

"After a while they found interest but apparently that is all. So far no information has been forthcoming relating to the financial and managerial ability of the interested parties."

M'Keldin Proclaims Dec. 1 State "Safe Driving Day"

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 9 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today proclaimed Thursday, Dec. 1, as "Safe Driving Day" in Maryland in conjunction with a national safety drive.

The campaign will actually cover a three-week period, beginning Nov. 21 ("S-D day minus 10") and extending through Dec. 11 ("S-D plus 10").

Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, was designated S-D day director for the state and city and country governments have been urged to appoint local directors to emphasize safe driving practices.

A tally of deaths throughout the nation will be kept during the period to measure the campaign's effectiveness.

The governor's announcement noted that 522 persons died in Maryland traffic accidents last year and that 412 have been killed so far this year.

"My appeal to every motorist can be stated very simply," he said. "Let's not kill or hurt ourselves or anybody else for the next 40 days. If we just concentrate for 40 days upon driving and walking as we know we should, I know we'll prove to ourselves that we can do it the year around."

Some 35,000,000 families, 7,000,000 of them farm families, own automobiles.

"It is my conviction, as well as that of others," he said, "that this action will definitely eliminate any doubts that may have prevailed in anyone's thinking and curb any such future rumors.

"This is conclusive evidence that I do desire to be my party's nominee for governor."

A representative for Burdett called at the Secretary of State's office around 4 p.m. He handed Burdett's certificate to Secretary of State D. Pitt O'Brien, along with Burdett's personal check covering the $175 filing fee.

Burdett, who resigned this year as president of the State Board of Control after a tiff with Gov. William C. Marland, listed his home address as Point Pleasant.

Since leaving the Board of Control last June, Burdett has continued to maintain an office in Charleston.

Experts At Odds On Death Cause

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9 (AP) — Experts disagreed today as to what killed Mrs. Margaret Price whose husband, Milton, is on trial on a murder charge.

The Gas and Electric Co. inspector's wife was found dead last Jan. 17.

The State claims she died of asphyxia due to strangulation.

A contrary view came from Dr. Henry L. Wollenweber, a former State medical examiner. He testified in his opinion the 32-year-old woman died of "accidental asphyxiation" due to complex causes that included drunkenness, shock and exhaustion.

Dr. Russell S. Fisher, chief medical examiner, testified for the State that the asphyxiation was "due to manual compression of the airway high in the throat, and possibly interference with the airway of the mouth and nose."

Dr. Wollenweber said he believed the woman had fallen on her face and that clothing under her chin, plus her alcoholic state and her exhaustion, brought about asphyxiation.

Dr. Fisher contended the .24 per cent alcoholic content of the woman's blood showed definite intoxication but not such as would cause coma that might bring self strangulation.

Fire In Apartment Of Singer's Ex-Wife Kills Ex-Salesman

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9 (AP) — A former clothing salesman burned to death early today in the apartment of Mrs. Grace Tibbett, ex-wife of opera star Lawrence Tibbett, police said.

Mrs. Tibbett was visiting at the home of friends.

Firemen said that Glenn Morgan, 45, apparently had fallen asleep while smoking a cigarette.

Mrs. Tibbett told police Morgan was "a good friend the past two years. He came to tell me goodby as I had planned a trip to Phoenix."

Cpl. Dickenson's Plea Rejected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—The U.S. Court of Military Appeals today turned down a request to reconsider its decision upholding the court martial conviction of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson.

Dickenson, 24, of Cracker's Neck, Va., was convicted a year and a half ago of unlawfully communicating with his Chinese captors while a prisoner of war in Korea. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The court of military appeals last September rejected Dickenson's arguments that he was convicted on insufficient evidence and that the court martial's chief law officer made a number of prejudicial errors.

Dickenson's attorney, Guy Emery, asked the high court to reconsider its decision, contending it had not satisfactorily taken into consideration the question of Communist brain washing of prisoners.

New Guard Unit To Man Gun Posts

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9 (AP)—Maryland is establishing a new National Guard unit to man four anti-aircraft gun sites set up for the defense of Baltimore.

The new unit is the 683rd Anti-aircraft Artillery Battalion.

The four gun posts on an arc east of the city originally were built and manned by the Army. The Army units now are being converted to the operation of guided missiles or Nike batteries on the outer perimeter of the city's defense.

As soon as the new National Guard unit is ready, four 90mm anti-aircraft guns will be emplaced at each of the four sites. They also will be equipped with the latest radar and communications equipment.

Plane Crash Cause?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Gerben Sonderman, pilot for Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands, suffered from a heart ailment which could have caused the plane crash in which Sonderman was killed last Oct. 20, the Civil Aeronautics Administration said today.

A skilled oyster shucker can shuck about 600 oysters an hour.

Butler Hits CTC "Iron Curtain"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md) today urged District of Columbia Commissioners to "lift the iron curtain" on negotiations to find an operator for Washington's bus and streetcar system.

"The secrecy surrounding these negotiations," he said in a statement, "enhances the fear many of us entertain when Congress lifted the franchise of CTC (Capital Transit Co.), that we are headed for public operation of our public transit system."

At that time last summer Butler said it seemed to him that many officials "permitted their animosity toward Louis Wolfson (CTC chairman) to blind them to the problem of adequately replacing CTC."

"But after CTC had been 'run out of town' by Sen. Morse (D-Ore) with able assistance from the District officials," Butler said today, "there suddenly seemed to be no takers with adequate resources and managerial ability to fill the void. So to shield their red faces, the District commissioners rung down the iron curtain while they drummed up some interest.

"After a while they found interest but apparently that is all. So far no information has been forthcoming relating to the financial and managerial ability of the interested parties."

M'Keldin Proclaims Dec. 1 State "Safe Driving Day"

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 9 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today proclaimed Thursday, Dec. 1, as "Safe Driving Day" in Maryland in conjunction with a national safety drive.

The campaign will actually cover a three-week period, beginning Nov. 21 ("S-D day minus 10") and extending through Dec. 11 ("S-D plus 10").

Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, was designated S-D day director for the state and city and country governments have been urged to appoint local directors to emphasize safe driving practices.

A tally of deaths throughout the nation will be kept during the period to measure the campaign's effectiveness.

The governor's announcement noted that 522 persons died in Maryland traffic accidents last year and that 412 have been killed so far this year.

"My appeal to every motorist can be stated very simply," he said. "Let's not kill or hurt ourselves or anybody else for the next 40 days. If we just concentrate for 40 days upon driving and walking as we know we should, I know we'll prove to ourselves that we can do it the year around."

Some 35,000,000 families, 7,000,000 of them farm families, own automobiles.

Members Of Christmas Savings Clubs To Receive About $694,024 This Year

Approximately $694,024 will be paid out this year to members of local Christmas Savings Clubs.

Four local banks will pay out a total of $604,024 to their members, and the First Federal Savings and Loan Association will pay approximately $90,000 to its members.

The estimate of the four banks represents a gain of $31,786.75 over last year's figure of $572,237.25. First Federal's figure of $90,000 is an increase of about $25,000 over last year and about 1,200 members will benefit.

Checks or payments will be made to 6,900 members of the clubs of the four banks. Last year there were 7,101 members. Two years ago local banks paid out $597,156 to 7,282 members.

Will Start Soon

Liberty Trust Company said checks will be mailed out November 21; Cumberland Savings Bank November 15; First National Bank this Friday; and stamp checks used at Commercial Savings Bank are now being honored.

Liberty Trust's figures include those of the bank here and the branch at Lonaconing. It said 2,786 members will receive an estimated $266,500. This compares with 2,921 accounts last year valued at $252,847.25.

Cumberland Savings Bank, noting a decrease in club members because of the railroad furlough earlier this year, said it will pay $68,024 to 801 members. Last year the bank had 926 members and paid out $72,390.

First National Bank has 1,983 members who will receive $152,500. Last year there was 1,754 members who received $132,000.

Commercial Savings lists 1,420 members with a total of $117,000. Last year there were 1,500 members with $115,000.

Second National Bank will join other banks next year. It is starting the Christmas Saving Club for the first time.

National Record

Nationally, the largest Christmas check ever will be sent to the largest number of club savers when 6,600 financial institutions distribute $1,130,000,000 to 12,000,000 persons.

This marks the fourth consecutive year, savings in the Christmas Clubs had passed the billion mark, Edward F. Dorset, president of Christmas Club, a corporation, announced. The increase over 1954 is 5 million or 4.6 per cent.

Maryland's share is listed as $22,994,609 and West Virginia $7,253,256.

Dorset pointed out not all the Christmas savings will go into retail trade. Some will go back into savings but all will boost the nation's economy.

Youths Will Get Hearing On Motor Vehicle Count

Two local youths who are being held in City Jail awaiting a preliminary hearing on charges of unauthorized use of a vehicle yesterday reportedly signed a statement admitting to an attempted breaking and entering of the office of a South Centre Street used car lot.

Detective Lt. James E. Van said the pair, Harold L. Walters, 19, and Jerry E. Frantz, 20, admitted driving to the vicinity of the used car establishment after using tinfoil to start an automobile owned by John A. Collins, 413 Beall Street.

The breaking and entering was discovered by Officer Charles E. Cubbage, Lt. Van said, and after questioning people in the area, one person said he had seen two youths answering the description of Frantz and Walters in that vicinity.

The youths were questioned yesterday by Lt. Van and Detective Thomas J. See and they reportedly admitted to the breaking and entering attempt. Lt. Van said they tried to enter the used car lot office in order to obtain a key for the Collins auto. Frantz acted as a "lookout," while Walters used a rock to break a window in the door of the office.

Frantz and Walters will be given a preliminary hearing today at 10 a. m. in Trial Magistrates Court on the unauthorized use charge, Lt. Van stated.

Woman Ordered To Pay Costs

Mrs. Lucy Clark, from the Bedford Road area, was ordered to pay $173 in medical bills yesterday in Juvenile Court resulting from a Halloween prank that ended in a shooting.

Mrs. Clark was given a hearing before Magistrate Morris Baron because she gave her 15-year-old son a rifle which he fired and injured another Bedford Road boy who was playing Halloween pranks on October 28.

Injured was Boyd Crites, son of Mrs. Edith Eshenan, who was struck by a bullet fired from a .22 caliber BB Cap rifle while he was Halloweening in the Bedford Road area.

The Clark boy told authorities that his mother suggested firing the rifle over the heads of the boys in an effort to scare them away on their third visit to the home. He said he fired several shots in the air in a general direction of the pranksters before the Crites boy fell wounded. The bullet struck Crites above the right eye and creased the boy's skull. He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Motorist Fined On Reckless Count

George Oliver Aldridge, 30, of Bedford Road, was fined $25 and ordered to pay court costs at a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason on a reckless driving charge.

The charge resulted from an accident on the evening of November 1 when Aldridge drove his automobile into the rear of another vehicle on Bedford Street.

Two other charges resulting from the accident were dismissed by Magistrate Mason.

The radar in an all-weather jet interceptor plane has as many parts as 200 television sets.

Brakes Blamed In Area Mishap

Brake failure has been attributed as the cause of a tractor-trailer running off West Virginia Route 28 Tuesday night and crashing into the Springfield Presbyterian Church.

The operator of the rig, Carl Whitmer, 22, of Lazy Springs, Va. last night was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for X-rays and observation of possible chest and back injuries.

Whitmer told attaches he was en route to Cumberland from Harrisonburg with a load of between 12 and 13 tons of live turkeys. Due to pain he was suffering, Whitmer could not recall his exact destination.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said Whitmer's truck failed to maneuver a sharp curve on West Virginia Route 28 and smashed into the church.

The damage to the rig, owned by Good's Transfer of Harrisonburg, Va., was extensive, investigating officers terming it "almost demolished" and set the loss at between $15,000 and $20,000. Turkeys and crates were strewn over a wide area and the Romney Volunteer Fire Company was called as a precautionary measure since gasoline from the vehicle covered a large area at the crash site.

West Virginia State Police investigating are Sgt. R. E. Schnell and Trooper G. C. Phillips.

Theatre Mechanism Explained

After outlining the history of the Mountain Playhouse to members of State Teachers College's Kappa Xi Cast of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic honorary fraternity, at the annual first semester dinner, James B. Stoughton, producer of the Jennesrtown little theatre, explained how actors are obtained; paid on a graduate scale; the various stages for the apprentice; the selection of the different types of plays; and how the personnel and theatre grows from year to year.

Preceding the dinner at the Ali Ghan Country Club, Tuesday evening the formal initiation was conducted by the officers. Miss Dorothy Stone White gave the pledge.

The table centerpiece was of violets, the fraternity flower, with moonlight blue and amber candles, the most frequently used colors in stage sets.

Following the party the group visited at the home of Miss Sophie Deneen, 301 Decatur Street, which Mr. Stoughton declared is "a mid-Victorian house, like a stage setting." Later they went to Compton Hall where the producer was taken on a tour and shown the facilities for drama productions on the campus.

Caryl Reports To Service Club

MOOREFIELD — Norris Caryl, Area Conservation Officer, U. S. Department of Agriculture, told the Moorefield Lions Club Monday night that a flood prevention project for the South Fork watershed was possible and practical if the preliminary survey confirmed available information. Caryl stated that the town of Moorefield had already filed an application for a project under Public Law 534, which authorizes flood prevention and land treatment programs on the Potomac watershed above Harper's Ferry.

Caryl said the approach to the flood problem was a new concept, that it did not include massive and costly dams but essentially was a series of small dams along with water retaining soil conservation measures. The cost of the program is borne by the Department of Agriculture and the Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service.

He pointed out that the farmers benefit greatly in this program as the land treatment studies showed more net profit to farmers in project areas. Caryl said the land treatment practices increased crop yields and as an example said that crops properly rotated retained 16 per cent more water in the soil and that lime and fertilizer on pasture or hay fields retained 12 per cent more water. He presented fantastic figures on the difference in water run off from equal areas of forest land, one which had been burned and the other unburned.

Caryl stressed the point that most retention dams built on a farmer's land was usually on untilled land and that the cleared area behind such dams were sodded and fertilized providing excellent pasture and hay. Also the farmer could use the small permanent pond for stock watering, irrigation, fishing and recreation.

The Lions club by resolution unanimously endorsed the proposed flood prevention and soil conservation project and joined with the town of Moorefield and the Hardy County Court as a joint sponsor.

Senator Ralph J. Bean reported that he and H. Gus Muntzing, attorneys for the Hardy Telephone Company, had completed the papers for the REA and that within 30 days the project should be approved and funds released for the $400,000 county wide telephone service. Bean said that minor details such as Workmen's Compensation and insurance were pending but would be completed and approved. He said that the mortgage had been recorded in Hardy, Grant, Pendleton and Hampshire counties as the service served areas in those four counties. Bean said that the contract would probably be let within 90 days and that construction would start in the spring under present plans. He requested that all members who had signed applications send in the fees at once so they could be included in the original list.

W. C. Harper, president of the club, announced that a Ladies Night would be held December 5.

South Fork Watershed Flood Project Reported Feasible

Caryl Reports To Service Club

MOOREFIELD — Norris Caryl, Area Conservation Officer, U. S. Department of Agriculture, told the Moorefield Lions Club Monday night that a flood prevention project for the South Fork watershed was possible and practical if the preliminary survey confirmed available information. Caryl stated that the town of Moorefield had already filed an application for a project under Public Law 534, which authorizes flood prevention and land treatment programs on the Potomac watershed above Harper's Ferry.

Caryl said the approach to the flood problem was a new concept, that it did not include massive and costly dams but essentially was a series of small dams along with water retaining soil conservation measures. The cost of the program is borne by the Department of Agriculture and the Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service.

He pointed out that the farmers benefit greatly in this program as the land treatment studies showed more net profit to farmers in project areas. Caryl said the land treatment practices increased crop yields and as an example said that crops properly rotated retained 16 per cent more water in the soil and that lime and fertilizer on pasture or hay fields retained 12 per cent more water. He presented fantastic figures on the difference in water run off from equal areas of forest land, one which had been burned and the other unburned.

Caryl stressed the point that most retention dams built on a farmer's land was usually on untilled land and that the cleared area behind such dams were sodded and fertilized providing excellent pasture and hay. Also the farmer could use the small permanent pond for stock watering, irrigation, fishing and recreation.

The Lions club by resolution unanimously endorsed the proposed flood prevention and soil conservation project and joined with the town of Moorefield and the Hardy County Court as a joint sponsor.

Senator Ralph J. Bean reported that he and H. Gus Muntzing, attorneys for the Hardy Telephone Company, had completed the papers for the REA and that within 30 days the project should be approved and funds released for the $400,000 county wide telephone service. Bean said that minor details such as Workmen's Compensation and insurance were pending but would be completed and approved. He said that the mortgage had been recorded in Hardy, Grant, Pendleton and Hampshire counties as the service served areas in those four counties. Bean said that the contract would probably be let within 90 days and that construction would start in the spring under present plans. He requested that all members who had signed applications send in the fees at once so they could be included in the original list.

W. C. Harper, president of the club, announced that a Ladies Night would be held December 5.

C. A. Ludwig, Jr., chairman of the Hallowe'en parade committee, reported on the celebration and said the event went off smoothly this year. He also reported the receipt of five letters of thanks from third grade youngsters who participated in the parade.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)— The stock market with its fourth strong drive ahead today reached a new recovery high since the great break that followed news of the President's illness.

The market was at an historic peak when it began its reaction on Sept. 26. It hit bottom Oct. 11. Today it has regained two-thirds of that fall, as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, which today advanced $1.60 and closed at $175.40.

Today's rise was due almost entirely to the strength of individual issues that shot ahead in response to dividend declarations or high earnings reports.

A typical situation was produced by General Motors. The new stock, resulting from a three-for-one split of the old, began trading today carrying with it an extra dividend of $1 declared Monday after the close. It was up 1⅞ at 48⅜.

DuPont, which holds some 63 million shares of GM stock, shot ahead 11½ at 241½.

The industrial component of the Associated Press average was up $2.90, rails rose $3.10, and utilities edged up 10 cents.

General Motors topped the most active list with 113,100 shares traded. It opened on a block of 35,000 shares at 47½ and closed at 48⅜ up 1⅞.

Signs Won't Stop Runaway Trucks

Shortly after the recent runaway truck tragedy in LaVale The Cumberland News proposed editorially that serious thought be given to the construction of so-called "runaway roads" or safety detours.

Since that time, there have been many meetings at which the problem of runaway trucks was the main topic of discussion. It appears that virtually everyone has agreed to a helpful, though second rate, solution—signs.

Authorities seem to be satisfied that the runaway truck that took five lives in LaVale ran away because of a brake failure. Should another truck's brakes fail, of how much use would warning signs be? Signs can't stop a runaway truck.

And we believe, too, that without enforcement on the spot, signs will be of little use. Truckers and motorists will see the signs, just as they see the signs now at the top of mountains east and west of Cumberland. But how many truckers and motorists pay them any heed?

Descending in second gear may not be necessary for most pleasure cars, but we have seen many heavily laden trucks take advantage of a downgrade to gather momentum for the next uphill drag.

Unless there is a law enforcement officer on the spot, we fear that signs contemplated for Big Savage Mountain to warn truckers of the long downgrade ahead will go unheeded in too many instances.

It may well be that a "runaway road," a steep uphill roadway built off the main road near the bottom of a downgrade, is not the most feasible solution. But at least a runaway road will stop more runaway trucks than a wooden sign at the top of a mountain. Railroads have such runaway roads and it is our understanding they are in use in some states as adjuncts to the highway system.

Other possible solutions, of course, might include stricter supervision by the Interstate Commerce Commission, improved braking devices as approved by the board of directors of the American Trucking Association about the time of the LaVale accident, or, best of all, although more expensive, better roads in mountainous Western Maryland.

At the present time, while the public is still concerned, is the time to get something concrete accomplished. A safety program should not be allowed to die because of lack of interest. The time for action is now, not after another tragedy contributed to by inadequate warning and preventive measures.

Signs are fine and certainly have their place in warning of danger ahead, but signs are not a first-rate solution. They need to be supplemented.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

It's Their Own Fault

The Republicans are annoyed with the Democrats because congressional committees, now chaired by Democrats, are investigating Republican conduct in office and are seeking for corruption and other derelictions. What do they expect?

For many years, during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, the Republicans said that if they ever reached power, they would investigate the Democrats to prove corruption and subversion. In fact, the 1952 campaign was fought out on this issue. Republicans accused Democrats of being corrupt and soft on Communists and other subversives. When some Republican members of Congress took these Republican charges seriously and began investigations, they were called off by the White House. Senators McCarthy and Jenner declined to be called off and both were disciplined by the White House. What might have been great usefulness to their party was reduced to a trickle of opposition.

The terms on which McCarthy might have made his peace with the White House were these: His committee would continue to investigate, but hearings were to be held only in executive session; McCarthy was then to send the transcript to the White House which would determine what action, if any, would be taken. McCarthy rejected this proposal.

And now the Democrats are investigating the Republicans and have, as must have been expected, hit some pay-dirt because there always is some in a large, sprawling administration whether Republican or Democratic.

The essential error in the political thinking that motivated the White House was the assumption that because President Eisenhower is unusually popular, the Democrats would let the 1956 campaign go by default. Even if every Democrat wants President Eisenhower to continue in office, under our two-party system, which is essentially sound, it is necessary for each party to go through with a campaign and it is wholesome for the country if the opposition opposes. A one-party system can only produce a tyranny and bi-partisanship deprives the people of the advantage of debate.

The Democrats therefore are right in proceeding with their investigations. When the Republicans were in power, they contended that "His Majesty's Loyal Opposition," as they used the phrase, owes it to the country to examine, investigate, scrutinize, debate, and dispute the policies and activities of the party in power.

What needs to be emphasized, if this country is to survive as a republic, is that men count for little but that institutions are important. Men are elected and defeated; they emerge as energetic youngsters and settle down to be tired, uninspired middle-aged public officials whose greatest concern is that they will have to return to obscurity. Some even die in office. But the institutions remain. Therein is our strength because we do not have to fear the disappearance of great men. We have no Hitlers, Stalins or Titos in our political life. We do have a Constitution which has outlasted 34 presidents and 84 Congresses.

The suggestion that the Democrats are wrong in continuing their investigations is purely political. The Eisenhower administration's choice to oppose Republican investigations of preceding Democratic administrations was an error of political and civic judgment and now may result in Democratic investigations heaping upon Republicans responsibility for Democratic faults. The reason for this is that executive action is continuous and cumulative and does not end when a party goes out of power. The Department of Agriculture finds itself in precisely that situation. Its secretary, Ezra Taft Benson, inherited an extremely evil situation, both as to policy and administration, and was not permitted to do too much about it. Upon him will be heaped criticism for mistakes in judgment made since the AAA was organized.

Red Declaration Of War Against West Restated

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Soviet Russia's declaration of war against the Western world has been reaffirmed by Vice Premier Lazar Kaganovich.

Disregarding entirely the "Geneva spirit" and virtually expressing contempt for the arguments of Western statesmen, the Soviet spokesman in a public speech on the anniversary of the Red revolution says:

"Under the banner of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin we have triumphed and will continue to triumph to full victory under communism."

This isn't just "political" communism which the vice premier is talking about, but the communism of an aggressor nation. It infiltrates the governments of neighboring territory, or else puts the troops of Communist armies of occupation into such areas to terrorize the people and prevent free elections.

Widespread Triumph

The Soviet regime for 10 years, since the close of World War II, has been carrying on its conspiracy to overthrow governments from within and these "triumphs" now stretch from Eastern Europe to Eastern and Southeast Asia with notable acquisitions of strength n the Middle East.

The aggressive action of the Soviet Union has been constant. It has brought into its orbit of control hundreds of millions of persons. The Western world, which has been anxious to negotiate a "compromise" or a "modus vivendi" or some sort of agreement to permit "peaceful coexistence." is being told now that in effect only unconditional surrender will be accepted by the Communist regime in Moscow.

The latest news from the Geneva conference underlines the uncompromising attitude of the Kremlin. Reunification of Germany has been brushed aside by Foreign Minister Molotov as "premature." Actually he has denounced the idea of "free elections" and brazenly contends that the "all—German" state he has in mind must be a coalition dictated by the Kremlin. It's the story all over again of Poland after Yalta.

The Allied statesmen have been trying to make the best of a bad situation. They have endeavored to appear optimistic. They have exercised a sort of self—restraint in public expression so as not to offend the Russians or aggravate the situation generally. But it is all in vain. The Soviet has misconstrued the Western attitude as one of craven weakness.

Russia Still Unyielding

The diplomatic way out of such an impasse is to propose another conference. When the whole world was propagandized on the issue of a "conference at the summit" public expectation of a success was so pronounced that the failure to agree on anything substantial led to a formula of postponement or deferred action — the plan for a meeting of the Big Four ministers. This meeting was described by the President last summer as "the acid test."

Now the "acid test" has come and the Russians are intransigeant. The Geneva spirit has been considerably changed and the negotiations are back where they have been for the last 10 years — with an adamant, unyielding Russia seeking world domination and repeatedly saying "no" to the West.

The foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States, fortunately, are united in rejecting the Molotov proposals. They show their displeasure publicly. This may bring about some slight modification by the Russians which can be hailed as a "concession" and then a plan will be announced for another four-power conference to be held in the spring.

This device helps to sustain the hopes of those who think that the Russians can be worn down. But they never have exhibited any such exhaustibility heretofore and there is no reason to believe they will make any material concessions.

West's Education Slow

There are, on the other hand, some of the Western side who are preaching defeatism and appeasement. As long as the Soviets think public opinion in the Western countries is willing to buy peace at any price there is less likely to be any yielding on anything essential to the Russians.

Little by little the world is being educated painfully on the subject of Russian belligerency and rigidity of purpose. The Kremlin announces openly it is embarked on a world struggle to secure the triumph of communism which, of course, means Communist imperialism and Communist tyranny.

The oppressed peoples in Eastern Europe have had no illusions. They have been waiting for the Western statesmen to wake up to the realities and they have felt all along that in the end the Geneva conferences would prove the faithlessness of the Russians and, hence, would have a great value in enlightening the Western world. That is the best product of the "Geneva spirit" to date.

Infection, Emotional Upset May Cause Asthma

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

The majority of asthmatics are sensitive to certain pollens, molds, dusts, or foods and the reaction to contact with the irritant is swelling of the bronchi and narrowing of the air passages. The victim wheezes, coughs, and becomes short of breath.

Treatment is simplified if the cause is known and the offending agents can be eliminated or neutralized. But from the practical point of view, the problem is not always this easy. Allergy does not play a role in one out of four asthmatics; attacks are brought on by infection such as a cold, or by an emotional upheaval.

Asthma of this type is more common in the middle-aged and occasionally leads to intractable and chronic wheezing. The man or woman is well until sore throat, nasal congestion, or sinusitis develops. During the first few days, the condition is indistinguishable from an ordinary cold until coughing and wheezing begin.

Breathing may not be affected for several days and symptoms come and go, depending upon the amount of mucus present. With increase in congestion of the bronchial membranes a typical asthmatic attack arises.

The body utilizes the muscles of the chest and diaphragm to bring air into the lungs. But these muscles are of little help in expiration, which is a passive maneuver. This is where the asthmatic runs into trouble as there is no way to force out the air.

The usual asthma remedies bring relief but when infection is the basis of the attack, antibiotics such as penicillin also are required. Persons whose asthma is precipitated by a respiratory infection ought to do everything in their power to avoid colds. Health must be maintained at a high level by eating properly and getting ample rest. Coughers and nose blowers must be shunned.

Years ago—before the days of sulfonamides and penicillin — I asked an asthmatic why she was so particular about avoiding infections. The patient replied that her last asthmatic attack which started as a simple cold, became so severe she had to be sent to a hospital as a lifesaving measure.

Wheezing was controlled with adrenalin but it returned as soon as the effects of the drug wore off. She then went to Arizona where the warm, dry air brought relief. The lady was in no mood to catch another cold and to go further into debt for treatment.

Emotional conflicts also may initiate bouts of asthma. In some instances, the victim is depressed, grief stricken, hostile, or afraid. Others feel lonely and insecure and are in need of affection and encouragement.

Often anxiety plays a role in cause and effect. Wheezing and difficult breathing is a trying experience that adds to the anxiety already present. When the condition is severe, phychiatric care may be required.

DUSTY CLOTHES

Mrs. L. writes: Is there such a thing as allergy to dusty garments? I have a friend who starts sneezing if she wears a dress or coat that has been hanging in the closet for a month or two.

Yes. Dust allergy is common and many sensitive persons are affected by sweeping the floor, brushing the furniture, and taking down the curtains and draperies.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Governor "Soapy" Williams of Michigan tells of an evening in Lansing when a gent very much under the influence eluded the guards and begged, "Hey, Guv, what time ya got?"

"It's exactly 9:30 p. m.," the "Guv" told him.

"I must be going nuts," wailed the imbiber. "All day long I keep getting different answers!"

A city man bought a country estate and also an ornate weather vane to put on top of the barn. It was much too elaborate for the flimsy structure, however, and the man's wife brought it back for exchange.

"I'm afraid," she explained to the man who had fashioned it, "you'll have to give us something in a lighter vane."

Have you heard about the man from outer space who changed saucers in mid-stream?

Senate Committee Studies Question Of Flood Control Vs Private Utilities

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A Senate committee under Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon begins hearings today on what may be considered a local problem affecting the District of Columbia. Actually it's a much bigger problem affecting the entire nation — whether private utilities come ahead of the public good in developing rivers and waterways.

In three different parts of the U.S.A. in the last three months, it's being shown that the private utility lobbies prevented flood control, with the resulting cost of scores of lives and hundreds of millions of dollars.

In New England, Congress authorized $300,000,000 for an integrated system of flood control and electric power similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority. But because the flood-control dams were to be used for electric power, the private utility lobby killed the entire project. That's why New England has suffered so heavily from storms.

On the Potomac the Army Engineers in 1946 recommended an integrated system of 13 reservoirs in the Potomac Basin. But because the plan tied water conservation up with electric power development in order to pay for the dams, the big utility lobby, with aid from Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, called the whole thing off. Byrd was opposed to the flooding of areas along the Shenandoah where his apple orchards are located.

So today, the Potomac Electric Power Co., having helped kill the Army Engineers' integrated reservoirs and power dams, proposes a steam plant on the Potomac which will require a rail line in order to haul coal, and which will further pollute the already polluted water supply for the District of Columbia.

Meanwhile, water has become a vital problem around Washington. Farmers are tapping the Potomac for irrigation; the volume of the river except in flood season, has dwindled and what the area needs is water conservation, not a steam plant alongside the Potomac at a place where it would be inundated if the Army Engineers' plan is ever consummated.

This is what Senator Morse of Oregon is now investigating.

Pennsylvania Power Politics

Shocking congressional testimony has just been received regarding the possible saving of 106 lives in Pennsylvania plus millions of dollars of flood damage if the coal and public utility interests had not blocked flood control on the Delaware River basin.

Exactly 13 years ago, after the horrible floods of 1942, the Army Engineers recommended a flood-control plan for the Delaware River basin. Though it was impossible to start work during World War II, Congress, shortly after the war, gave the green light for a huge flood-control system, provided it was linked up with cheap water power in order to pay for the dams.

Here the private utilities and the Pennsylvania coal interests stepped in.

Actually they had stepped in a good many years ago when the combined flood-control-cheap-power-navigation program of the Tennessee Valley Authority had begun to revolutionize the industry of the South.

Some of these facts were revealed during an on-the-spot study of flood control made by a congressional subcommittee under Rep. Robert E. Jones, Alabama Democrat, whose state has benefitted from TVA.

European Socialism

To get the entire picture of what's happened in the flood-menaced Delaware basin, you have to g back to 1933 when the private power companies of that area had nightmares over a possible Tennessee Valley Authority for Northeast Pennsylvania and moved to block it.

Working through state legislatures, they organized the "Interstate Commission on the Delaware" in 1936 as blunt notice to the federal government to keep out of the Delaware area. The states of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, they warned, would solve their water difficulties without any help from Uncle Sam.

The commission did tackle water pollution but ignored flood control completely. Even pollution prevention made little progress.

At the recent congressional hearings, Mayor Joseph Clark of Philadelphia, which gets most of its water from the polluted Delaware, was asked by Congressman Jones:

"I've heard that down in Philadelphia you bottle your municipal water supply for treatment of athlete's foot. Is that correct?"

"There is a rumor to that effect," replied Mayor Clark, "but I would like to assure you that it's entirely unfounded. We used to call it the chlorine cocktail. The taste is almost, but not quite, as good as a martini."

Chairman of the interstate Commission on the Delaware was Francis A. Pitkin of Pennsylvania, who considered the Tennessee Valley Authority socialistic.

"Progress under this procedure," he said, "referring to progress by the states without federal aid, "may be somewhat cumbersome, as compared with results achieved in other interstate river basin areas, such as the Tennessee Valley. But the incodel (Interstate Commission on the Deleware) system has one great merit. It avoids the danger of a 'return to the European system of centrally controlled provincial governors attributed to TVA.'"

Pitkin, however, has now drastically changed his mind. The recent floods on the Delaware did it for him.

"If we are to make progress in the solution of such highly complex problems involving complicated intergovernmental relationships," said Pitkin, following Hurricane Diane, "we must look to a federal government for leadership and financial assistance."

"Don't Look Now"

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

As good a way as any to begin a report on the present situation is with a warning. "Don't look now, but there's a man behind the curtain with a gun pointed at your gizzard."

That is the best summary, at any rate, of the American policymakers' reaction to the new Middle Eastern crisis. In private, the policy-makers are alarmingly close to downright panic. As revealed in this space, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has actually described the sudden Soviet intrusion into the troubled affairs of the Middle East as "more serious" than the aggression in Korea in 1950.

The question is, of course, why the Kremlin's simple act of selling surplus arms to Egypt and other Arab states should have produced this kind of panicky reaction.

Produced Danger Of War

One part of the answer is obvious. The prospective upset of the Middle Eastern balance of power has produced a really grave danger of war—either an early preventive war launched by the Israelis before the Egyptians are ready to use their Soviet arms, or a war of conquest launched by the Egyptians a little later when they believe they are sufficiently stronger than the Israelis. The odds on war are currently quoted as about even by the best official bookmakers.

But this greatly increased danger of war in the Middle East is by no means the whole reason for the near-panic that now prevails in Washington. In a longer perspective, it is not even the most important reason. What has happened, really, is that the Eisenhower policymakers have been forced to face the really central fact of the cold war.

The central fact of the cold war is simply the enormous difference between what we can do on the Soviet side of the line, and what the Soviets can do on our side of the line. The experience of the last three years has proven that the big, bold "liberation" talk of the 1953 campaign was just political hot air.

Control Too Tight

There is plenty of trouble, of course, on the Soviet side of the line. But we cannot exploit this trouble because the Communist control is too tight and too ruthless and too unshakable. On the Soviet side of the line, there is a hard carapace which the apostle of "liberation," Secretary of State Dulles, has proven utterly incapable of penetrating.

Meanwhile there is also plenty of trouble on our side of the line, and there is no hard carapace that prevents the Communists from exploiting that trouble to the utmost. For the past three years, this exploitation has been going on in the Far East — in the Formosa Strait, in Indochina and in Malaya, for instance. It has now begun in the Middle East, where the recent Soviet action is quite literally comparable to tossing a match into a powder keg.

To most Americans, these Middle and Far Eastern situations, of course, seem unbelievably remote. What should we care, for instance, if the labor unions and school system in Singapore are already under Communist control, and if a rather muddled British Socialist, David Marshall, is now fighting a desperate and perhaps losing battle to prevent the Communists from gaining control of the Singapore government itself?

But the truth is that Malaya is one part of the gizzard of the free half of the world, so to speak. And the Middle East is another part of the gizzard.

This is true for very practical reasons. For instance, Malayan tin and rubber, Middle Eastern oil and various services performed by British firms in the Middle and Far East bring in at least 40 per cent of the entire hard currency income of Great Britain. Even today, the British are having very acute trade balance difficulties. Take away 40 per cent of their hard currency income—and that is what the trouble in the Middle and Far East threatens to do eventually—then the British will be ruined financially and plunged into chaos politically.

Flank Attacks Dangerous

Now Britain is not only the second great power of the Western alliance. The British Isles are also the site of the most important of the overseas airbases on which the American Strategic Air Command depends for 80 per cent of its striking power. Plunge Britain into chaos, deny the use of the overseas airbases to General Curtis LeMay—and in one stroke, the Western alliance will be all but destroyed and America's own military striking power will be crippled almost beyond repair.

Plenty of similar illustrations could be given. More immediate threats could also be mentioned, such as the strong likelihood that the Soviet sales of arms to Saudi Arabia will cause the Saudi Arabians to throw General LeMay out of his important airbase at Dhahran. The real point is, however, that the Soviet flank attacks that are now going on are just as dangerous to the free world as overt aggression in Western Europe. And so some way has got to be found to stop the flank attacks.

Signs Won't Stop Runaway Trucks

Shortly after the recent runaway truck tragedy in LaVale The Cumberland News proposed editorially that serious thought be given to the construction of so-called "runaway roads" or safety detours.

Since that time, there have been many meetings at which the problem of runaway trucks was the main topic of discussion. It appears that virtually everyone has agreed to a helpful, though second rate, solution—signs.

Authorities seem to be satisfied that the runaway truck that took five lives in LaVale ran away because of a brake failure. Should another truck's brakes fail, of how much use would warning signs be? Signs can't stop a runaway truck.

And we believe, too, that without enforcement on the spot, signs will be of little use. Truckers and motorists will see the signs, just as they see the signs now at the top of mountains east and west of Cumberland. But how many truckers and motorists pay them any heed?

Descending in second gear may not be necessary for most pleasure cars, but we have seen many heavily laden trucks take advantage of a downgrade to gather momentum for the next uphill drag.

Unless there is a law enforcement officer on the spot, we fear that signs contemplated for Big Savage Mountain to warn truckers of the long downgrade ahead will go unheeded in too many instances.

It may well be that a "runaway road," a steep uphill roadway built off the main road near the bottom of a downgrade, is not the most feasible solution. But at least a runaway road will stop more runaway trucks than a wooden sign at the top of a mountain. Railroads have such runaway roads and it is our understanding they are in use in some states as adjuncts to the highway system.

Other possible solutions, of course, might include stricter supervision by the Interstate Commerce Commission, improved braking devices as approved by the board of directors of the American Trucking Association about the time of the LaVale accident, or, best of all, although more expensive, better roads in mountainous Western Maryland.

At the present time, while the public is still concerned, is the time to get something concrete accomplished. A safety program should not be allowed to die because of lack of interest. The time for action is now, not after another tragedy contributed to by inadequate warning and preventive measures.

Signs are fine and certainly have their place in warning of danger ahead, but signs are not a first-rate solution. They need to be supplemented.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

It's Their Own Fault

The Republicans are annoyed with the Democrats because congressional committees, now chaired by Democrats, are investigating Republican conduct in office and are seeking for corruption and other derelictions. What do they expect?

For many years, during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, the Republicans said that if they ever reached power, they would investigate the Democrats to prove corruption and subversion. In fact, the 1952 campaign was fought out on this issue. Republicans accused Democrats of being corrupt and soft on Communists and other subversives. When some Republican members of Congress took these Republican charges seriously and began investigations, they were called off by the White House. Senators McCarthy and Jenner declined to be called off and both were disciplined by the White House. What might have been great usefulness to their party was reduced to a trickle of opposition.

The terms on which McCarthy might have made his peace with the White House were these: His committee would continue to investigate, but hearings were to be held only in executive session; McCarthy was then to send the transcript to the White House which would determine what action, if any, would be taken. McCarthy rejected this proposal.

And now the Democrats are investigating the Republicans and have, as must have been expected, hit some pay-dirt because there always is some in a large, sprawling administration whether Republican or Democratic.

The essential error in the political thinking that motivated the White House was the assumption that because President Eisenhower is unusually popular, the Democrats would let the 1956 campaign go by default. Even if every Democrat wants President Eisenhower to continue in office, under our two-party system, which is essentially sound, it is necessary for each party to go through with a campaign and it is wholesome for the country if the opposition opposes. A one-party system can only produce a tyranny and bi-partisanship deprives the people of the advantage of debate.

The Democrats therefore are right in proceeding with their investigations. When the Republicans were in power, they contended that "His Majesty's Loyal Opposition," as they used the phrase, owes it to the country to examine, investigate, scrutinize, debate, and dispute the policies and activities of the party in power.

What needs to be emphasized, if this country is to survive as a republic, is that men count for little but that institutions are important. Men are elected and defeated; they emerge as energetic youngsters and settle down to be tired, uninspired middle-aged public officials whose greatest concern is that they will have to return to obscurity. Some even die in office. But the institutions remain. Therein is our strength because we do not have to fear the disappearance of great men. We have no Hitlers, Stalins or Titos in our political life. We do have a Constitution which has outlasted 34 presidents and 84 Congresses.

The suggestion that the Democrats are wrong in continuing their investigations is purely political. The Eisenhower administration's choice to oppose Republican investigations of preceding Democratic administrations was an error of political and civic judgment and now may result in Democratic investigations heaping upon Republicans responsibility for Democratic faults. The reason for this is that executive action is continuous and cumulative and does not end when a party goes out of power. The Department of Agriculture finds itself in precisely that situation. Its secretary, Ezra Taft Benson, inherited an extremely evil situation, both as to policy and administration, and was not permitted to do too much about it. Upon him will be heaped criticism for mistakes in judgment made since the AAA was organized.

DUSTY CLOTHES

Mrs. L. writes: Is there such a thing as allergy to dusty garments? I have a friend who starts sneezing if she wears a dress or coat that has been hanging in the closet for a month or two.

REPLY

Yes. Dust allergy is common and many sensitive persons are affected by sweeping the floor, brushing the furniture, and taking down the curtains and draperies.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Governor "Soapy" Williams of Michigan tells of an evening in Lansing when a gent very much under the influence eluded the guards and begged, "Hey, Guv, what time ya got?"

"It's exactly 9:30 p. m.," the "Guv" told him.

"I must be going nuts," wailed the imbiber. "All day long I keep getting different answers!"

A city man bought a country estate and also an ornate weather vane to put on top of the barn. It was much too elaborate for the flimsy structure, however, and the man's wife brought it back for exchange.

"I'm afraid," she explained to the man who had fashioned it, "you'll have to give us something in a lighter vane."

Have you heard about the man from outer space who changed saucers in mid-stream?

Senate Committee Studies Question Of Flood Control Vs Private Utilities

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A Senate committee under Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon begins hearings today on what may be considered a local problem affecting the District of Columbia. Actually it's a much bigger problem affecting the entire nation — whether private utilities come ahead of the public good in developing rivers and waterways.

In three different parts of the U.S.A. in the last three months, it's being shown that the private utility lobbies prevented flood control, with the resulting cost of scores of lives and hundreds of millions of dollars.

In New England, Congress authorized $300,000,000 for an integrated system of flood control and electric power similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority. But because the flood-control dams were to be used for electric power, the private utility lobby killed the entire project. That's why New England has suffered so heavily from storms.

On the Potomac the Army Engineers in 1946 recommended an integrated system of 13 reservoirs in the Potomac Basin. But because the plan tied water conservation up with electric power development in order to pay for the dams, the big utility lobby, with aid from Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, called the whole thing off. Byrd was opposed to the flooding of areas along the Shenandoah where his apple orchards are located.

So today, the Potomac Electric Power Co., having helped kill the Army Engineers' integrated reservoirs and power dams, proposes a steam plant on the Potomac which will require a rail line in order to haul coal, and which will further pollute the already polluted water supply for the District of Columbia.

Meanwhile, water has become a vital problem around Washington. Farmers are tapping the Potomac for irrigation; the volume of the river except in flood season, has dwindled and what the area needs is water conservation, not a steam plant alongside the Potomac at a place where it would be inundated if the Army Engineers' plan is ever consummated.

This is what Senator Morse of Oregon is now investigating.

Pennsylvania Power Politics

Shocking congressional testimony has just been received regarding the possible saving of 106 lives in Pennsylvania plus millions of dollars of flood damage if the coal and public utility interests had not blocked flood control on the Delaware River basin.

Exactly 13 years ago, after the horrible floods of 1942, the Army Engineers recommended a flood-control plan for the Delaware River basin. Though it was impossible to start work during World War II, Congress, shortly after the war, gave the green light for a huge flood-control system, provided it was linked up with cheap water power in order to pay for the dams.

Here the private utilities and the Pennsylvania coal interests stepped in.

Actually they had stepped in a good many years ago when the combined flood-control-cheap-power-navigation program of the Tennessee Valley Authority had begun to revolutionize the industry of the South.

Some of these facts were revealed during an on-the-spot study of flood control made by a congressional subcommittee under Rep. Robert E. Jones, Alabama Democrat, whose state has benefitted from TVA.

European Socialism

To get the entire picture of what's happened in the flood-menaced Delaware basin, you have to go back to 1933 when the private power companies of that area had nightmares over a possible Tennessee Valley Authority for Northeast Pennsylvania and moved to block it.

Working through state legislatures, they organized the "Interstate Commission on the Delaware" in 1936 as blunt notice to the federal government to keep out of the Delaware area. The states of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, they warned, would solve their water difficulties without any help from Uncle Sam.

The commission did tackle water pollution but ignored flood control completely. Even pollution prevention made little progress.

At the recent congressional hearings, Mayor Joseph Clark of Philadelphia, which gets most of its water from the polluted Delaware, was asked by Congressman Jones:

"I've heard that down in Philadelphia you bottle your municipal water supply for treatment of athlete's foot. Is that correct?"

"There is a rumor to that effect," replied Mayor Clark, "but I would like to assure you that it's entirely unfounded. We used to call it the chlorine cocktail. The taste is almost, but not quite, as good as a martini."

Chairman of the interstate Commission on the Delaware was Francis A. Pitkin of Pennsylvania, who considered the Tennessee Valley Authority socialistic.

"Progress under this procedure," he said, "referring to progress by the states without federal aid, "may be somewhat cumbersome, as compared with results achieved in other interstate river basin areas, such as the Tennessee Valley. But the incodel (Interstate Commission on the Deleware) system has one great merit. It avoids the danger of a 'return to the European system of centrally controlled provincial governors attributed to TVA.'"

Pitkin, however, has now drastically changed his mind. The recent floods on the Delaware did it for him.

"If we are to make progress in the solution of such highly complex problems involving complicated intergovernmental relationships," said Pitkin, following Hurricane Diane, "we must look to a federal government for leadership and financial assistance."

"Don't Look Now"

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

As good a way as any to begin a report on the present situation is with a warning. "Don't look now, but there's a man behind the curtain with a gun pointed at your gizzard."

That is the best summary, at any rate, of the American policymakers' reaction to the new Middle Eastern crisis. In private, the policy-makers are alarmingly close to downright panic. As revealed in this space, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has actually described the sudden Soviet intrusion into the troubled affairs of the Middle East as "more serious" than the aggression in Korea in 1950.

The question is, of course, why the Kremlin's simple act of selling surplus arms to Egypt and other Arab states should have produced this kind of panicky reaction.

Produced Danger Of War

One part of the answer is obvious. The prospective upset of the Middle Eastern balance of power has produced a really grave danger of war—either an early preventive war launched by the Israelis before the Egyptians are ready to use their Soviet arms, or a war of conquest launched by the Egyptians a little later when they believe they are sufficiently stronger than the Israelis. The odds on war are currently quoted as about even by the best official bookmakers.

But this greatly increased danger of war in the Middle East is by no means the whole reason for the near-panic that now prevails in Washington. In a longer perspective, it is not even the most important reason. What has happened, really, is that the Eisenhower policymakers have been forced to face the really central fact of the cold war.

The central fact of the cold war is simply the enormous difference between what we can do on the Soviet side of the line, and what the Soviets can do on our side of the line. The experience of the last three years has proven that the big, bold "liberation" talk of the 1953 campaign was just political hot air.

Control Too Tight

There is plenty of trouble, of course, on the Soviet side of the line. But we cannot exploit this trouble because the Communist control is too tight and too ruthless and too unshakable. On the Soviet side of the line, there is a hard carapace which the apostle of "liberation," Secretary of State Dulles, has proven utterly incapable of penetrating.

Meanwhile there is also plenty of trouble on our side of the line, and there is no hard carapace that prevents the Communists from exploiting that trouble to the utmost. For the past three years, this exploitation has been going on in the Far East — in the Formosa Strait, in Indochina and in Malaya, for instance. It has now begun in the Middle East, where the recent Soviet action is quite literally comparable to tossing a match into a powder keg.

To most Americans, these Middle and Far Eastern situations, of course, seem unbelievably remote. What should we care, for instance, if the labor unions and school system in Singapore are already under Communist control, and if a rather muddled British Socialist, David Marshall, is now fighting a desperate and perhaps losing battle to prevent the Communists from gaining control of the Singapore government itself?

But the truth is that Malaya is one part of the gizzard of the free half of the world, so to speak. And the Middle East is another part of the gizzard.

This is true for very practical reasons. For instance, Malayan tin and rubber, Middle Eastern oil and various services performed by British firms in the Middle and Far East bring in at least 40 per cent of the entire hard currency income of Great Britain. Even today, the British are having very acute trade balance difficulties. Take away 40 per cent of their hard currency income—and that is what the trouble in the Middle and Far East threatens to do eventually—then the British will be ruined financially and plunged into chaos politically.

Flank Attacks Dangerous

Now Britain is not only the second great power of the Western alliance. The British Isles are also the site of the most important of the overseas airbases on which the American Strategic Air Command depends for 80 per cent of its striking power. Plunge Britain into chaos, deny the use of the overseas airbases to General Curtis LeMay—and in one stroke, the Western alliance will be all but destroyed and America's own military striking power will be crippled almost beyond repair.

Plenty of similar illustrations could be given. More immediate threats could also be mentioned, such as the strong likelihood that the Soviet sales of arms to Saudi Arabia will cause the Saudi Arabians to throw General LeMay out of his important airbase at Dhahran. The real point is, however, that the Soviet flank attacks that are now going on are just as dangerous to the free world as overt aggression in Western Europe. And so some way has got to be found to stop the flank attacks.

Social Outcast Is Favored To Take Laurel International

13 Top Rated Horses Enter In Rich Event

$65,000 Feature Scheduled Friday On Maryland Track

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 9 (AP)—Social Outcast finally outran the youthful obscurity that matched his name and was picked today as the probable favorite over a dozen other thoroughbreds in Friday's International.

The last and hesitant entry for the $65,000 mile and a half grass race was listed at 3-1 by the mutuel department of Laurel.

He was rated a shade over Traffic Judge, one of the three other United States entries, at 4-1.

Another U. S. entry, Mister Gus, will start the betting at 6-1. England's Nucleus and Ireland's Panaslipper are coupled at 8-1, Aeschylus of the U. S. and Darius of England are at 10-1, and France's Mahan is a 15-1 shot.

Others Are 20-1

All the others are 20-1. They include Germany's Ataturk, Venezuela's El Chama and Prendase, France's Picounda, and Canada's Prefect. Since there are only 12 betting numbers for the 13 probable starters, Prefect and El Chama will be on the same ticket.

Consideration even as the probable favorite in such a diversified field climaxes a long uphill run for Social Outcast. He started racing as a crumb picker in the stable of Alfred G. Vanderbilt in 1953 and today is the seventh leading money winner of all time.

In the same barn three years ago was the great Native Dancer and you had to be a Vanderbilt groom to be aware of any other thoroughbred was around. Native Dancer was crowned 3-year-old champ that year and horse of the year in 1954, losing only once in 22 races.

Was Practice Horse

Social Outcast earned only $42,850 his first year while being used mostly as a practice horse for Native Dancer. He took home $192,675 last year, but still Native Dancer was tearing around the tracks and on the nation's TV screens.

The Dancer retired last year and the plodding Social Outcast became Vanderbilt's main dividend returner of 1955. He has done magnificently, winning eight of 20 races for $383,275 in purses.

The International itself is worth $50,000 to the winner.

Coaches Are Getting Fired Instead Of Baseball Pilots

Nine Lieutenants Have Gotten Ax

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—It may not be apparent, but the major leagues, since the close of the 1955 baseball season, have been carrying out a quiet but grim purge against the usually inviolate band of coaches, a check disclosed today.

So far, nine lieutenants have been given the ax and more are sure to follow before the curtain is raised for the 1956 campaign. A year ago, the finger was put on the managers when nine pilots were relieved of their duties. This year only three managers have been replaced.

The biggest upheaval took place on the New York Giants where Bill Rigney succeeded Leo Durocher as manager. The new pilot wielded a relentless broom on the brain trust department, sweeping out the entire coaching staff.

Hutch Names Two

Those who felt the sting were Freddy Fitzsimmons, Herman Franks and Frank Shellenback. In their place came Bucky Walters and Davey Williams. A third coach, Ray Mueller, is expected to be named any day now.

Freddy Hutchinson was not quite as thorough in St. Louis when he replaced Harry Walker as Cardinal manager. His first official action was to hand pink slips to coaches Lou Kahn and Johnny Riddle, leaving only pitching coach Bill Poesedel unscathed. Terry Moore and Johnny Hopp, a pair of old Redbird stars, were brought back in a move to regain the fans.

The Braves, unhappy in their perennial bridegroom role, also made two coaching changes. They gave Walters his release to accept the Giant job, dropped Johnny Cooney and replaced them with Fred Haney and Charlie Root.

Rowe Is Replaced

Cincinnati and Detroit have made coaching changes, too. Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Reds recently named Frank McCormick, the former Cincinnati slugger, to fill the third base coaching spot left vacant by the resignation of Dick Bartell. The Tigers released Schoolboy Rowe and replaced him with Joe Gordon, the former acrobatic second baseman of the Yankees and Indians.

A couple of Pittsburgh coaches, Sam Narron and John Fitzpatrick, are breathing uneasily following the change in Pirate management. Bobby Bragan, who succeeded Haney at the Pittsburgh helm, has announced he plans to retain Clyde Sukeforth but made no mention of the other two.

And the baseball season doesn't open until April 17.

Navy Wins Three

The Navy shuffleboard team defeated the Air Force, 3-0, last night in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Mixed League. High scorer for the winners was George Speis with 26 points. High for Air Force was Lil Myers with 21. Tonight the Marines vie with the Army and Friday the Seabees meet the Coast Guard in loop matches.

Croton Boy Sets Track Record In Wheeling Victory

Croton Boy, owned by Enoch Price Jr., of Frostburg set a new track record yesterday in winning the eighth race at Wheeling Downs, breaking his own mark of 2:15 2/5 for the mile and 5/16 run by 1 2/5 seconds.

Ridden by R. Arduini, Croton Boy paid $6.80, $3.60 and $2.80 to its backers as the Frostburg thoroughbred racked up its eighth win of the season.

In scoring the win, Croton Boy ran the distance in 2:14 flat to break the mark it set on August 27 of this year.

Man Sues Cobb, Was Once Friend

OROVILLE, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP)—Elbert D. Felts testified today in his $50,000 damage suit against Ty Cobb that the baseball immortal and himself once were very friendly.

Felts, also an old-time baseball player, has accused the "Georgia Peach" of attacking him at a party in Willows, Calif., last year.

He told the jury of seven men and five women that he met Cobb about five years ago. He said he and Mrs. Felts visited the Cobbs on many occasions, and Cobb had hunted pheasants and ducks in Butte County.

Felts testified he suffered severe injuries in an unprovoked attack and still has to wear a steel brace on his back.

Felts asks $25,000 compensatory and $25,000 punitive damages. He originally sued for $50,000 on each score but reduced the amount yesterday.

Pop's Place Wins High School Title

Pop's Place defeated the Goofers, 36-12, yesterday at Penn Avenue field in a playoff for the championship of the High School Touch Football League.

Leading the winners was Deb Payton who scored twice on 25 and 18-yard passes from Davis, and Minnicks who also scored a pair of touchdowns on passes of 15 and 10 yards from Davis.

Washington scored another six-pointer for the winners on a four-yard run and Green closed the scoring with a 37 yard romp for a counter.

Scoring the Goofers' only touchdowns were Harold Shriver, on a 22-yard pass from Moreland, and Shank on a 37-yard pass from Shriver. The score:

Pop's Place	0	12	12	12	—36
Goofers	0	0	0	12	—12

Touchdowns: Goofers — Shriver, Shank. Pop's — Payton 2, Minnicks 2, Washington and Green.

Reaction Is Key To Oklahoma's Grid Successes

Others Faster Afoot Wilkinson States

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 9 (AP)—This will come a bit late for 26 consecutive opponents, but you want to know the real secret of Oklahoma University's football success?

It's reaction.

"Barring mistakes and poor physical condition, football games are won by teams that react the fastest," Coach Bud Wilkinson of the undefeated Sooners said.

"We are doing very well in this department."

The Sooners go after their 27th straight victory this Saturday when they play host to Iowa State. They've already wrapped up a bid to the Orange Bowl and were voted this week the No. 1 team in the nation in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Wilkinson was being quizzed on the team speed that has bewildered so many opponents this year.

He said he didn't think his players were any bigger or tougher than many of the teams they played; they just reacted better.

(The reaction of some of those teams about this Oklahoma speed is a bit further down).

"Speed is a very misleading word," Wilkinson said. "In football, the speed that is important is in a player's reaction to a different situation. As a team, we've been reacting well, but I'm sure there are squads who might possibly outrun us in a foot race."

Dallas Ward, coach of a rugged Colorado team that was beaten 56-21 by the Sooners, reacted like this after that game:

"This is the fastest football team I've ever seen on any one afternoon."

The reaction of Missouri Coach Don Faurot after a 20-0 whitewash last week:

"Oklahoma's two first teams plus overall speed and deceptiveness" put them a step above Maryland and Michigan, a couple of other Missouri foes this season.

Wilkinson, the tall, slow-spoken former Minnesota great who has yet to have a team finish lower than a share for first in the Big Seven, thinks the ability of his backs to change direction quickly is all important. And backs Jimmy Harris, Tommy McDonald and Bob Burris do this in pleasing fashion. They all, incidentally, are former high school trackmen.

The big Sooner linemen like center Jerry Tubbs, guard Bo Bolinger, tackle Cal Woodworth and end Don Stiller get A for above average on this reacting performance.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—Doug Ford, the 1955 national PGA champion who played more rounds of competitive golf this year than any other pro in history, today was named "golfer of the year" by the Professional Golfers' Assn. of America.

Ford stroked his way through 121 rounds of PGA tourney golf this year. He received 230 votes to easily top runner-up Jack Fleck in a PGA-conducted poll.

Fleck, the surprising U. S. Open champion, got 190 ballots in voting by 722 of the nation's pro golfers, golf writers and golfing officials.

Cary Middlecoff, PGA tourney runner-up, received 135 votes, followed by Julius Boros with 106.

Others receiving more than 10 votes were Mike Souchak, 14; Ben Hogan, 13; and Gene Littler, 12.

Milwaukee Braves Grossed $4,571,695.90

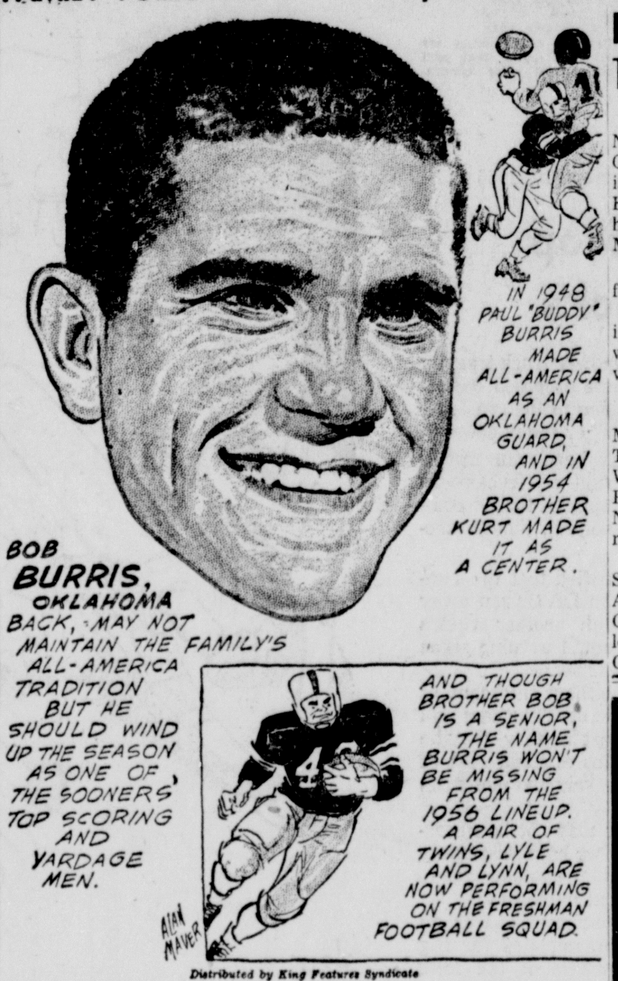

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Milwaukee Journal did some figuring today and estimated that the Milwaukee Braves did a gross business of more than four and a half million dollars last summer.

The exact figure given by the newspaper was $4,571,695.90.

The Journal said it based its estimate on money paid Milwaukee County for gross admissions and concessions, both at the rate of five per cent.

The club has paid the county, which owns County Stadium, the Braves' ballpark, $129,396.32 on ticket sales and $66,593.59 on concession sales for a total of $195,989.91 for 1955.

Motor Experts Prefer Du Pont ZEREX®
for winter-long anti-freeze protection against freeze-ups, rust and corrosion

Motor experts, men who know cars from A to Z, put their trust in the top-quality anti-freeze—Du Pont "Zerex." 91% of the starting drivers in this year's world-famous Indianapolis 500-mile race use Du Pont "Zerex" in their own personal cars.

Here's one reason:

SEE HOW MUCH CLEANER "ZEREX" KEEPS YOUR RADIATOR

Flask at left held a solution of water and ordinary anti-freeze with an oil inhibitor. Flask at right held a solution of "Zerex" and water. To each was added the same amount of ground rust—just as you might find in your own car's cooling system. Both flasks were shaken, then drained. Notice how a film of rust clings to the inside of the flask on left as it would to the metal surfaces of your car's cooling system. But the flask containing "Zerex" is clean! This demonstrates that Du Pont's special chemical rust inhibitor, which contains no oil, does not form a rusty oil film that could clog your radiator and cause overheating and serious engine damage.

Was Practice Horse

Social Outcast earned only $42,850 his first year while being used mostly as a practice horse for Native Dancer. He took home $192,675 last year, but still Native Dancer was tearing around the tracks and on the nation's TV screens.

The Dancer retired last year and the plodding Social Outcast became Vanderbilt's main dividend returner of 1955. He has done magnificently, winning eight of 20 races for $383,275 in purses.

The International itself is worth $50,000 to the winner.

Coaches Are Getting Fired Instead Of Baseball Pilots

Nine Lieutenants Have Gotten Ax

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—It may not be apparent, but the major leagues, since the close of the 1955 baseball season, have been carrying out a quiet but grim purge against the usually inviolate band of coaches, a check disclosed today.

So far, nine lieutenants have been given the ax and more are sure to follow before the curtain is raised for the 1956 campaign. A year ago, the finger was put on the managers when nine pilots were relieved of their duties. This year only three managers have been replaced.

The biggest upheaval took place on the New York Giants where Bill Rigney succeeded Leo Durocher as manager. The new pilot wielded a relentless broom on the brain trust department, sweeping out the entire coaching staff.

Hutch Names Two

Those who felt the sting were Freddy Fitzsimmons, Herman Franks and Frank Shellenback. In their place came Bucky Walters and Davey Williams. A third coach, Ray Mueller, is expected to be named any day now.

Freddy Hutchinson was not quite as thorough in St. Louis when he replaced Harry Walker as Cardinal manager. His first official action was to hand pink slips to coaches Lou Kahn and Johnny Riddle, leaving only pitching coach Bill Poesedel unscathed. Terry Moore and Johnny Hopp, a pair of old Redbird stars, were brought back in a move to regain the fans.

The Braves, unhappy in their perennial bridegroom role, also made two coaching changes. They gave Walters his release to accept the Giant job, dropped Johnny Cooney and replaced them with Fred Haney and Charlie Root.

Rowe Is Replaced

Cincinnati and Detroit have made coaching changes, too. Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Reds recently named Frank McCormick, the former Cincinnati slugger, to fill the third base coaching spot left vacant by the resignation of Dick Bartell. The Tigers released Schoolboy Rowe and replaced him with Joe Gordon, the former acrobatic second baseman of the Yankees and Indians.

A couple of Pittsburgh coaches, Sam Narron and John Fitzpatrick, are breathing uneasily following the change in Pirate management. Bobby Bragan, who succeeded Haney at the Pittsburgh helm, has announced he plans to retain Clyde Sukeforth but made no mention of the other two.

And the baseball season doesn't open until April 17.

Navy Wins Three

The Navy shuffleboard team defeated the Air Force, 3-0, last night in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Mixed League. High scorer for the winners was George Speis with 26 points. High for Air Force was Lil Myers with 21. Tonight the Marines vie with the Army and Friday the Seabees meet the Coast Guard in loop matches.

Cliff Battles, new member of football's Hall of Fame, won 15 letters in sports at West Virginia Wesleyan. In addition to football Battles played baseball, basketball, tennis and was on the track team.

Croton Boy Sets Track Record In Wheeling Victory

Croton Boy, owned by Enoch Price Jr., of Frostburg set a new track record yesterday in winning the eighth race at Wheeling Downs, breaking his own mark of 2:15 2/5 for the mile and 5/16 run by 1 2/5 seconds.

Ridden by R. Arduini, Croton Boy paid $6.80, $3.60 and $2.80 to its backers as the Frostburg thoroughbred racked up its eighth win of the season.

In scoring the win, Croton Boy ran the distance in 2:14 flat to break the mark it set on August 27 of this year.

Man Sues Cobb, Was Once Friend

OROVILLE, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP)—Elbert D. Felts testified today in his $50,000 damage suit against Ty Cobb that the baseball immortal and himself once were very friendly.

Felts, also an old-time baseball player, has accused the "Georgia Peach" of attacking him at a party in Willows, Calif., last year.

He told the jury of seven men and five women that he met Cobb about five years ago. He said he and Mrs. Felts visited the Cobbs on many occasions, and Cobb had hunted pheasants and ducks in Butte County.

Felts testified he suffered severe injuries in an unprovoked attack and still has to wear a steel brace on his back.

Felts asks $25,000 compensatory and $25,000 punitive damages. He originally sued for $50,000 on each score but reduced the amount yesterday.

Pop's Place Wins High School Title

Pop's Place defeated the Goofers, 36-12, yesterday at Penn Avenue field in a playoff for the championship of the High School Touch Football League.

Leading the winners was Deb Payton who scored twice on 25 and 18-yard passes from Davis, and Minnicks who also scored a pair of touchdowns on passes of 15 and 10 yards from Davis.

Washington scored another six-pointer for the winners on a four-yard run and Green closed the scoring with a 37 yard romp for a counter.

Scoring the Goofers' only touchdowns were Harold Shriver, on a 22-yard pass from Moreland, and Shank on a 37-yard pass from Shriver. The score:

Pop's Place	0	12	12	12	—36
Goofers	0	0	0	12	—12

Touchdowns: Goofers — Shriver, Shank. Pop's — Payton 2, Minnicks 2, Washington and Green.

Reaction Is Key To Oklahoma's Grid Successes

Others Faster Afoot Wilkinson States

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 9 (AP)—This will come a bit late for 26 consecutive opponents, but you want to know the real secret of Oklahoma University's football success?

It's reaction.

"Barring mistakes and poor physical condition, football games are won by teams that react the fastest," Coach Bud Wilkinson of the undefeated Sooners said.

"We are doing very well in this department."

The Sooners go after their 27th straight victory this Saturday when they play host to Iowa State. They've already wrapped up a bid to the Orange Bowl and were voted this week the No. 1 team in the nation in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Wilkinson was being quizzed on the team speed that has bewildered so many opponents this year.

He said he didn't think his players were any bigger or tougher than many of the teams they played; they just reacted better.

(The reaction of some of those teams about this Oklahoma speed is a bit further down).

"Speed is a very misleading word," Wilkinson said. "In football, the speed that is important is in a player's reaction to a different situation. As a team, we've been reacting well, but I'm sure there are squads who might possibly outrun us in a foot race."

Dallas Ward, coach of a rugged Colorado team that was beaten 56-21 by the Sooners, reacted like this after that game:

"This is the fastest football team I've ever seen on any one afternoon."

The reaction of Missouri Coach Don Faurot after a 20-0 whitewash last week:

"Oklahoma's two first teams plus overall speed and deceptiveness" put them a step above Maryland and Michigan, a couple of other Missouri foes this season.

Wilkinson, the tall, slow-spoken former Minnesota great who has yet to have a team finish lower than a share for first in the Big Seven, thinks the ability of his backs to change direction quickly is all important. And backs Jimmy Harris, Tommy McDonald and Bob Burris do this in pleasing fashion. They all, incidentally, are former high school trackmen.

The big Sooner linemen like center Jerry Tubbs, guard Bo Bolinger, tackle Cal Woodworth and end Don Stiller get A for above average on this reacting performance.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—Doug Ford, the 1955 national PGA champion who played more rounds of competitive golf this year than any other pro in history, today was named "golfer of the year" by the Professional Golfers' Assn. of America.

Ford stroked his way through 121 rounds of PGA tourney golf this year. He received 230 votes to easily top runner-up Jack Fleck in a PGA-conducted poll.

Fleck, the surprising U. S. Open champion, got 190 ballots in voting by 722 of the nation's pro golfers, golf writers and golfing officials.

Cary Middlecoff, PGA tourney runner-up, received 135 votes, followed by Julius Boros with 106.

Others receiving more than 10 votes were Mike Souchak, 14; Ben Hogan, 13; and Gene Littler, 12.

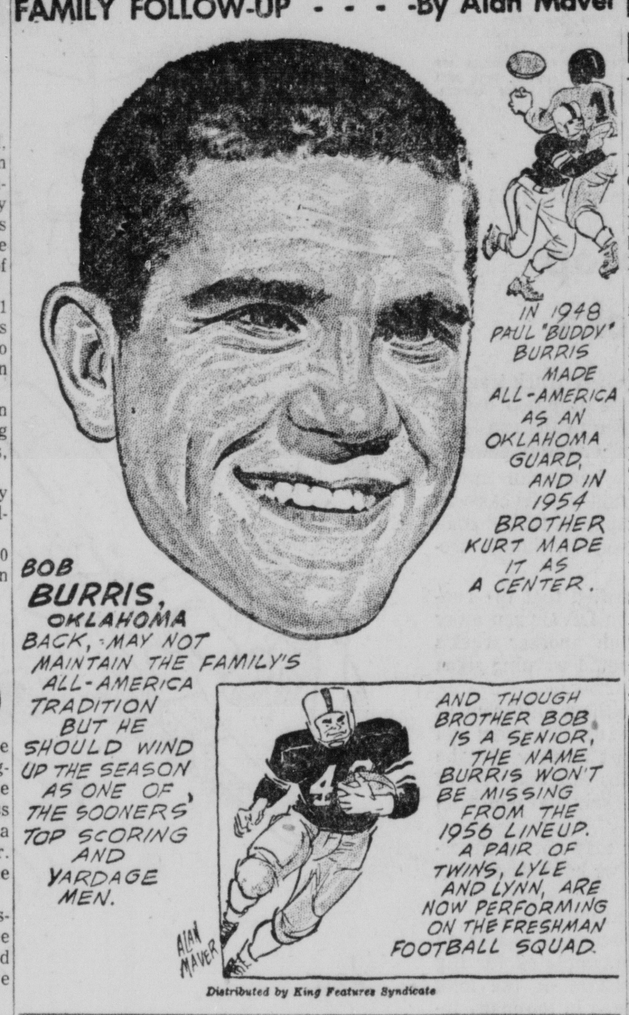

Milwaukee Braves Grossed $4,571,695.90

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Milwaukee Journal did some figuring today and estimated that the Milwaukee Braves did a gross business of more than four and a half million dollars last summer.

The exact figure given by the newspaper was $4,571,695.90.

The Journal said it based its estimate on money paid Milwaukee County for gross admissions and concessions, both at the rate of five per cent.

The club has paid the county, which owns County Stadium, the Braves' ballpark, $129,396.32 on ticket sales and $66,593.59 on concession sales for a total of $195,989.91 for 1955.

Motor Experts Prefer Du Pont ZEREX®
for winter-long anti-freeze protection against freeze-ups, rust and corrosion

Motor experts, men who know cars from A to Z, put their trust in the top-quality anti-freeze—Du Pont "Zerex." 91% of the starting drivers in this year's world-famous Indianapolis 500-mile race use Du Pont "Zerex" in their own personal cars.

Here's one reason:

SEE HOW MUCH CLEANER "ZEREX" KEEPS YOUR RADIATOR

Flask at left held a solution of water and ordinary anti-freeze with an oil inhibitor. Flask at right held a solution of "Zerex" and water. To each was added the same amount of ground rust—just as you might find in your own car's cooling system. Both flasks were shaken, then drained. Notice how a film of rust clings to the inside of the flask on left as it would to the metal surfaces of your car's cooling system. But the flask containing "Zerex" is clean! This demonstrates that Du Pont's special chemical rust inhibitor, which contains no oil, does not form a rusty oil film that could clog your radiator and cause overheating and serious engine damage.

91% of Indianapolis Speedway drivers use "Zerex" in their own personal cars

Losing Team Leads College Football Defense Statistics

Army Is Atop List, Terps Tough Aground

[By The Associated Press]

Add oddities of 1955 football: Two weeks in succession a losing performance has put a team in the lead in the major college total defense statistics.

It happened to Auburn a week ago when the Tigers were upset by Tulane, then last Saturday Army moved to the top while losing to Yale. Fumbles are the explanation of both losses.

Army, giving up only 160 yards to Yale, lost the ball five times on fumbles and lost the game, 14-12. In this respect, the Cadets are the most unfortunate team in the country. In seven games they have fumbled away the ball 24 times, including a season high of eight against Michigan.

Next to them is Kansas State with 23 fumbles lost and Kansas and Wichita with 22 each.

Another oddity is in the making as the figures remain relatively unchanged until the Army - Navy game. Navy is second in total defense and is No. 1 on pass defense. Army, which seldom passes but has a good ground attack, is second only to Maryland in rushing defense but nowhere among the leaders in pass defense. Apparently they'll be playing to each other's weaknesses.

The latest figures from the NCAA statistical bureau look like this:

In seven games, Army has yielded an average of only 150.7 yards to both rushing and passing and Navy 162.6. Auburn, after a wild 27-26 victory over Mississippi State, dropped to third in total defense with a 164.4 yard per game average, followed by Maryland, 168.1 and West Virginia, 171.7. West Virginia also is fifth in rushing defense with a 105 yard average in seven games.

Maryland has allowed its opponents ground gains of only 533 yards in eight games, an average of 66.6 per game. Army has a rushing defense average of 75.0 yards. Holy Cross, at 82.4, is the only other major college to restrict its opponents to less than 100 yards per game.

Navy's defense against passes is something remarkable. The Midshipmen have had only 18 passes completed against them in seven games and they have intercepted 11 enemy passes. Those 18 completions gained only 226 yards for an average of 32.2 yards per game. Navy's completion average of .295 is surpassed only by Nebraska's .286 and its interception percentage of .190 is the highest.

Florida is second in pass defense with a 43.4 yard average and Nebraska third with 44.3.

Other defense leaders: Punting—Michigan State 42.4 yards average, Tennessee 41.8 yards. Punt returns—North Carolina, 20.6 yards average on 14 chances. Kickoff returns—Southern California, 28.5 yards average on 26 runbacks. Defense against scoring: UCLA 4.1 points per game (33 in 8 games), Georgia Tech 5.1 points, Maryland 5.6, Vanderbilt 5.7, Navy 6.0.

Foreign Threat

ONE OF the foreign threats in the 1956 Olympics is Sandor Iharos, the Hungarian distance runner, who is seen here as he cracked the record for the 5,000 meters in an event in Budapest. Iharos also shattered the mark for three miles. (International)

Griffith Plans To Shorten Nats Stadium Fences

Left, Centerfield Areas To Be Smaller

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—The new look on the Washington Senators isn't going to involve only new faces, it turned out today. It's also going to involve new dimensions.

Calvin Griffith, the club's new president, said he's going to have both the left and center field fences moved in, cutting some 20 feet off the home run distance in the most formidable ball park for distance hitters in the major leagues.

At the same time, Griffith let it be known he's still plotting trades in hopes of adding more new faces before the start of the 1956 season. Yesterday Griffith closed a deal with the Boston Red Sox that will bring five young players to Washington.

Griffith is attempting to deal with the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees, seeking to bolster his infield and to add a solid lefthanded pitcher. As trade bait, he is said to be danging the likes of infielders Pete Runnels and Eddie Yost and pitchers Mickey McDermott and Camilo Pascual.

This is all off the record. Griffith is maintaining a stubborn silence about his future moves, but it's no secret he would like to have Gil McDougald of the Yankees or Bobby Avila or Don Mossi of the Indians.

Griffith has not decided on just how Griffith Stadium will look next season. Fro one thing, the temporary stands now being used for football games make measurements a bit difficult.

But, Griffith said, "we're definitely going to put a fence inside the park, and will determine where we'll put it after the football season.

"We have some fellows who figure to benefit by a shorter distance," Griffith said, singling out Yost, Roy Sievers, Carlos Paula and Karl Olson, one of the five players acquired from the Red Sox.

The distance into the left field corner is now 386 feet, 21 feet longer than the second farthest shot, 365 feet in Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. Even a 20-foot reduction would make it quite a wallop into the corner.

Laud Mountaineers

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — William and Mary's football team, which has met Navy, Duke and West Virginia, gives the nod to West Virginia as probably the best of the three.

Navy whipped the Indians 7-0, Duke did it 47-7 and West Virginia 39-13. But Coach Jack Freeman says West Virginia showed more strength in depth — especially at quarterback.

"Nobody has a second-string quarterback as good as Mickey Trimarki," says Freeman. Trimarki plays behind All-America candidate Freddy Wyant for the three-platoon Mountaineers.

Hopman Backed Hartwig As Pro

Aussie Star Signed Pact For $30,000

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 9 (AP)—Rex Hartwig, one of Australia's young tennis stars, said today it was Aussie Davis Cup Capt. Harry Hopman and former Davis Cup star Frank Sedgman who influenced his decision to turn pro.

Hartwig signed a 15-month contract with U. S. pro Jack Kramer yesterday for $30,000. The sole objective in signing, said Hartwig, was "to secure my future."

Kramer, who earlier signed U.S. amateur champion Tony Trabert, recently was turned down by the top Aussie pair of Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall.

Kramer's troupe, comprised of Hartwig, Trabert, Pancho Segura and Kramer himself, will begin their tour at New York's Madison Square Garden Dec. 9. Tentative plans call for a tour of the United States, South America and the Philippines.

After that, Sedgman, co-promoter with Kramer in Australia, takes charge and the troupe heads for Australia, New Zealand, Japan, India and South Africa.

Hartwig said his contract also calls for a percentage of the gate when the troupe plays outside the United States.

Pro Tennis Begins Dec. 9 In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Jack Kramer, the professional tennis promoter, today signed up Madison Square Garden for matches to be played Friday night, Dec. 9. This will probably be the opening of a nationwide tour.

Kramer recently persuaded Tony Trabert, the U. S. champion, and Rex Hartwig, one of Australia's aces, to turn professional.

Terps End Rough Work For Clemson, Ron Athey Injured

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 9 (AP) — Maryland's Terrible Terps went through their last rough work today prior to Saturday's football game at Clemson.

The two currently are tied atop the Atlantic Coast Conference standings.

Coach Jim Tatum sent his squad through a 45-minute fullspeed drill and spent 45 more minutes on dummy drills. Tomorrow, a light sweat suit practice will wind up preparation before the team leaves Friday for South Carolina.

Ron Athey, second team right guard who hurt his knee in last Saturday's LSU game, is the only Terp ailing. He may miss the Clemson game.

Losing Team Leads College Football Defense Statistics

Army Is Atop List, Terps Tough Aground

[By The Associated Press]

Add oddities of 1955 football: Two weeks in succession a losing performance has put a team in the lead in the major college total defense statistics.

It happened to Auburn a week ago when the Tigers were upset by Tulane, then last Saturday Army moved to the top while losing to Yale. Fumbles are the explanation of both losses.

Army, giving up only 160 yards to Yale, lost the ball five times on fumbles and lost the game, 14-12. In this respect, the Cadets are the most unfortunate team in the country. In seven games they have fumbled away the ball 24 times, including a season high of eight against Michigan.

Next to them is Kansas State with 23 fumbles lost and Kansas and Wichita with 22 each.

Another oddity is in the making as the figures remain relatively unchanged until the Army - Navy game. Navy is second in total defense and is No. 1 on pass defense. Army, which seldom passes but has a good ground attack, is second only to Maryland in rushing defense but nowhere among the leaders in pass defense. Apparently they'll be playing to each other's weaknesses.

The latest figures from the NCAA statistical bureau look like this:

In seven games, Army has yielded an average of only 150.7 yards to both rushing and passing and Navy 162.6. Auburn, after a wild 27-26 victory over Mississippi State, dropped to third in total defense with a 164.4 yard per game average, followed by Maryland, 168.1 and West Virginia, 171.7. West Virginia also is fifth in rushing defense with a 105 yard average in seven games.

Maryland has allowed its opponents ground gains of only 533 yards in eight games, an average of 66.6 per game. Army has a rushing defense average of 75.0 yards. Holy Cross, at 82.4, is the only other major college to restrict its opponents to less than 100 yards per game.

Navy's defense against passes is something remarkable. The Midshipmen have had only 18 passes completed against them in seven games and they have intercepted 11 enemy passes. Those 18 completions gained only 226 yards for an average of 32.2 yards per game. Navy's completion average of .295 is surpassed only by Nebraska's .286 and its interception percentage of .190 is the highest.

Florida is second in pass defense with a 43.4 yard average and Nebraska third with 44.3.

Other defense leaders: Punting—Michigan State 42.4 yards average, Tennessee 41.8 yards. Punt returns—North Carolina, 20.6 yards average on 14 chances. Kickoff returns—Southern California, 28.5 yards average on 26 runbacks. Defense against scoring: UCLA 4.1 points per game (33 in 8 games), Georgia Tech 5.1 points, Maryland 5.6, Vanderbilt 5.7, Navy 6.0.

Foreign Threat

ONE OF the foreign threats in the 1956 Olympics is Sandor Iharos, the Hungarian distance runner, who is seen here as he cracked the record for the 5,000 meters in an event in Budapest. Iharos also shattered the mark for three miles. (International)

Antelope Abound

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas has more antelope hunters, the state game commission reports. There are 1,106 surplus antelope west of the Pecos River, but only 437 hunters have applied for special permits to hunt them.

Griffith Plans To Shorten Nats Stadium Fences

Left, Centerfield Areas To Be Smaller

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—The new look on the Washington Senators isn't going to involve only new faces, it turned out today. It's also going to involve new dimensions.

Calvin Griffith, the club's new president, said he's going to have both the left and center field fences moved in, cutting some 20 feet off the home run distance in the most formidable ball park for distance hitters in the major leagues.

At the same time, Griffith let it be known he's still plotting trades in hopes of adding more new faces before the start of the 1956 season. Yesterday Griffith closed a deal with the Boston Red Sox that will bring five young players to Washington.

Griffith is attempting to deal with the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees, seeking to bolster his infield and to add a solid lefthanded pitcher. As trade bait, he is said to be danging the likes of infielders Pete Runnels and Eddie Yost and pitchers Mickey McDermott and Camilo Pascual.

This is all off the record. Griffith is maintaining a stubborn silence about his future moves, but it's no secret he would like to have Gil McDougald of the Yankees or Bobby Avila or Don Mossi of the Indians.

Griffith has not decided on just how Griffith Stadium will look next season. Fro one thing, the temporary stands now being used for football games make measurements a bit difficult.

But, Griffith said, "we're definitely going to put a fence inside the park, and will determine where we'll put it after the football season.

"We have some fellows who figure to benefit by a shorter distance," Griffith said, singling out Yost, Roy Sievers, Carlos Paula and Karl Olson, one of the five players acquired from the Red Sox.

The distance into the left field corner is now 386 feet, 21 feet longer than the second farthest shot, 365 feet in Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. Even a 20-foot reduction would make it quite a wallop into the corner.

Laud Mountaineers

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — William and Mary's football team, which has met Navy, Duke and West Virginia, gives the nod to West Virginia as probably the best of the three.

Navy whipped the Indians 7-0, Duke did it 47-7 and West Virginia 39-13. But Coach Jack Freeman says West Virginia showed more strength in depth — especially at quarterback.

"Nobody has a second-string quarterback as good as Mickey Trimarki," says Freeman. Trimarki plays behind All-America candidate Freddy Wyant for the three-platoon Mountaineers.

Hopman Backed Hartwig As Pro

Aussie Star Signed Pact For $30,000

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 9 (AP)—Rex Hartwig, one of Australia's young tennis stars, said today it was Aussie Davis Cup Capt. Harry Hopman and former Davis Cup star Frank Sedgman who influenced his decision to turn pro.

Hartwig signed a 15-month contract with U. S. pro Jack Kramer yesterday for $30,000. The sole objective in signing, said Hartwig, was "to secure my future."

Kramer, who earlier signed U.S. amateur champion Tony Trabert, recently was turned down by the top Aussie pair of Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall.

Kramer's troupe, comprised of Hartwig, Trabert, Pancho Segura and Kramer himself, will begin their tour at New York's Madison Square Garden Dec. 9. Tentative plans call for a tour of the United States, South America and the Philippines.

After that, Sedgman, co-promoter with Kramer in Australia, takes charge and the troupe heads for Australia, New Zealand, Japan, India and South Africa.

Hartwig said his contract also calls for a percentage of the gate when the troupe plays outside the United States.

Pro Tennis Begins Dec. 9 In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Jack Kramer, the professional tennis promoter, today signed up Madison Square Garden for matches to be played Friday night, Dec. 9. This will probably be the opening of a nationwide tour.

Kramer recently persuaded Tony Trabert, the U. S. champion, and Rex Hartwig, one of Australia's aces, to turn professional.

Terps End Rough Work For Clemson, Ron Athey Injured

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 9 (AP) — Maryland's Terrible Terps went through their last rough work today prior to Saturday's football game at Clemson.

The two currently are tied atop the Atlantic Coast Conference standings.

Coach Jim Tatum sent his squad through a 45-minute fullspeed drill and spent 45 more minutes on dummy drills. Tomorrow, a light sweat suit practice will wind up preparation before the team leaves Friday for South Carolina.

Ron Athey, second team right guard who hurt his knee in last Saturday's LSU game, is the only Terp ailing. He may miss the Clemson game.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

"FERVENT REQUEST" ANSWERED

THE WRITER does not often present double-dummy problems, for the simple reason that such problems are not strictly bridge—they are puzzles. However, many bridge players enjoy grappling with these "brain-twisters," and so it may be a good experiment to publish one from time to time.

The problem below was sent in with the "fervent request" that the solution should be given in time to prevent a mental breakdown. Let us hope that the following discussion will stave off any such lamentable occurrence.

In double-dummy problems — the term refers to the fact that the solver is supposed to know, not guess at, the precise location of every card—there is no point in supplying a bidding sequence because the stipulated contract does not necessarily bear any resemblance to reality. The would-be solver is simply given the "conditions" and must abide by them. In this case he is told that South's contract is six spades and that West opens the heart deuce. The disadvantage that declarer suffers in not hearing any opposing bidding is offset a hundredfold by his privilege of looking at both defenders' hands.

The theme of the problem is by no means new—in fact, there are no new themes in double-dummy problems. South must look for a way to unblock the heart suit and cash in his own fifth heart. With all the cards exposed, this should not be too difficult a feat. But work on it before reading further.

Success is achieved as follows: South runs his five trump tricks, discarding one diamond and the club ace from dummy. The crux of the situation is to get rid of dummy's high club, while retaining the club deuce. Now dummy's remaining hearts are cashed, followed by the diamond ace, and the finale is for South to lead the club deuce toward his own queen-six. East cannot keep South from gaining entry with the club queen, and South then of course can cash his fifth heart.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

"FERVENT REQUEST" ANSWERED

THE WRITER does not often present double-dummy problems, for the simple reason that such problems are not strictly bridge—they are puzzles. However, many bridge players enjoy grappling with these "brain-twisters," and so it may be a good experiment to publish one from time to time.

The problem below was sent in with the "fervent request" that the solution should be given in time to prevent a mental breakdown. Let us hope that the following discussion will stave off any such lamentable occurrence.

	♠ A K 6 ♥ A K Q J ♦ A 8 6 5 ♣ A 2
♠ 9 8 7 5 2 ♥ 2 ♦ K J 10 9 7 3 2 ♣ —	N W E S	♠ — ♥ 10 9 6 ♦ Q ♣ K J 10 9 8 7 5 4 3
	♠ Q J 10 4 3 ♥ 8 7 5 4 3 ♦ 4 ♣ Q 6

In double-dummy problems — the term refers to the fact that the solver is supposed to know, not guess at, the precise location of every card—there is no point in supplying a bidding sequence because the stipulated contract does not necessarily bear any resemblance to reality. The would-be solver is simply given the "conditions" and must abide by them. In this case he is told that South's contract is six spades and that West opens the heart deuce. The disadvantage that declarer suffers in not hearing any opposing bidding is offset a hundredfold by his privilege of looking at both defenders' hands.

The theme of the problem is by no means new—in fact, there are no new themes in double-dummy problems. South must look for a way to unblock the heart suit and cash in his own fifth heart. With all the cards exposed, this should not be too difficult a feat. But work on it before reading further.

Success is achieved as follows: South runs his five trump tricks, discarding one diamond and the club ace from dummy. The crux of the situation is to get rid of dummy's high club, while retaining the club deuce. Now dummy's remaining hearts are cashed, followed by the diamond ace, and the finale is for South to lead the club deuce toward his own queen-six. East cannot keep South from gaining entry with the club queen, and South then of course can cash his fifth heart.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

As your charm grows, you never gossip yourself — and learn to stop others from gossiping, too.

Do you want to be talked about? If the talk is appreciative, of course there are times when you do. But to be gossiped about is something else again. You're asking for it if you indulge in gossip yourself.

Gossiping touches off a chain reaction. The word goes around, and your name is involved with the rest. Others have less conscience in what they say about you when they know you're careless about what you say about someone else. And a wary feeling toward you develops from fear of your gossiping tongue.

One of the finest compliments your charm can deserve is to have someone say of you, "I've never heard her say an unkind word about anybody." This goes far deeper than a mere tribute to a restrained tongue. It means that you have achieved the poise and confidence that brings with them breadth of mind and generous attitudes. It's the uncertain person who's petty, who gossips in the hope of raising self-esteem. Biger people have bigger things to think about.

As your own charm grows, you learn to stop gossip. First of all, put in a kind word even if you must interrupt. One wise lady I know stops gossipers in their tracks with the remark — accompanied by a twinkle in her eye — "Why, she always speaks kindly of you!"

It's always possible to avoid listening to anything you don't want to hear without offending anyone. After the kind word, change the subject to something impersonal, and interesting enough to make the gossip seem unimportant. You're teaching the would-be gossiper a lesson, but you're so graceful about it it's a lesson she's willing to learn.

Tomorrow—An earful of suggestions.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

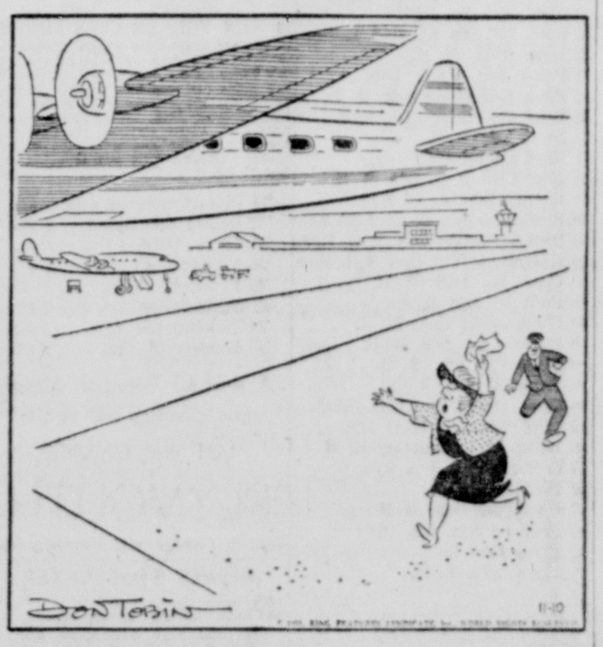

L R V O T K J O Z C V N H O Q S Q N Z P G C
B P V O C , U B L Q V O O B C V C Z S H C C O
Y N V Q N U Q S H P V O — Q N X C Q P J C .

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: ART IS LONG, AND TIME IS FLEETING—LONGFELLOW.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

As your charm grows, you never gossip yourself — and learn to stop others from gossiping, too.

Do you want to be talked about? If the talk is appreciative, of course there are times when you do. But to be gossiped about is something else again. You're asking for it if you indulge in gossip yourself.

Gossiping touches off a chain reaction. The word goes around, and your name is involved with the rest. Others have less conscience in what they say about you when they know you're careless about what you say about someone else. And a wary feeling toward you develops from fear of your gossiping tongue.

One of the finest compliments your charm can deserve is to have someone say of you, "I've never heard her say an unkind word about anybody." This goes far deeper than a mere tribute to a restrained tongue. It means that you have achieved the poise and confidence that brings with them breadth of mind and generous attitudes. It's the uncertain person who's petty, who gossips in the hope of raising self-esteem. Biger people have bigger things to think about.

As your own charm grows, you learn to stop gossip. First of all, put in a kind word even if you must interrupt. One wise lady I know stops gossipers in their tracks with the remark — accompanied by a twinkle in her eye — "Why, she always speaks kindly of you!"

It's always possible to avoid listening to anything you don't want to hear without offending anyone. After the kind word, change the subject to something impersonal, and interesting enough to make the gossip seem unimportant. You're teaching the would-be gossiper a lesson, but you're so graceful about it it's a lesson she's willing to learn.

Tomorrow—An earful of suggestions.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

L R V O T K J O Z C V N H O Q S Q N Z P G C
B P V O C , U B L Q V O O B C V C Z S H C C O
Y N V Q N U Q S H P V O — Q N X C Q P J C .

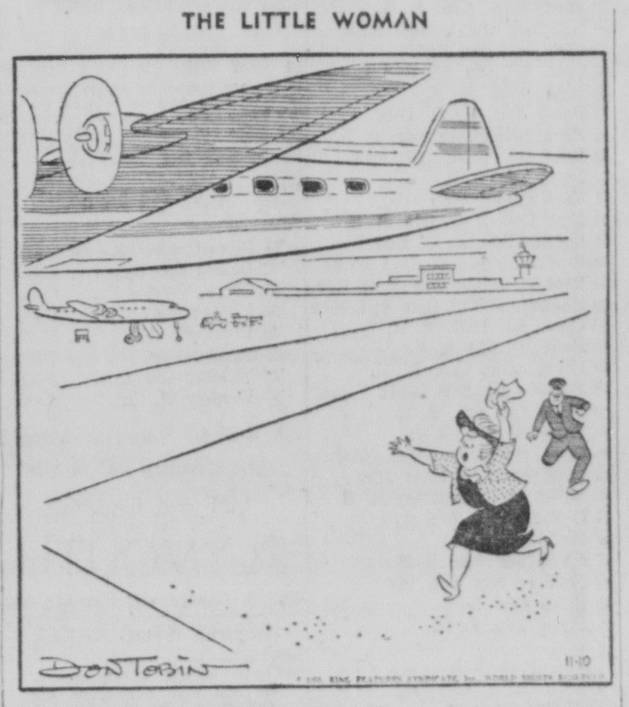

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: ART IS LONG, AND TIME IS FLEETING—LONGFELLOW.

LOGSDON — In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Bridget Logsdon, who died 9 years ago, November 10, 1946.
Dear mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with me,
As you always were before.

Target Date For Bridge Will Be Set

Senator See Is Told SRC Can Find Funds For Wiley Ford Span

State Senator Charles M. See announced the Maryland State Roads Commission will set by January a target date for the construction of a new bridge across the Potomac River at Wiley Ford.

The Allegany County Senator, with Nelson W. Russler, president; Glenn Morris, legislative chairman, and Arthur Weber and Harry Shobe, members of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, yesterday morning met with the full State Roads Commission to urge an early date for the construction of the span.

Senator See said the commission, headed by Russell H. McCain, agreed the obsolete bridge should be replaced.

McCain, he advised, reported he was reasonably certain the commission can secure money to build the bridge without a specific legislative act. It was not included in the 12-year road program.

W. Va. To Share Cost

The target date to be set by the Maryland SRC, Senator See said, is contingent upon the availability of funds from the West Virginia State Road Commission for its share of the costs.

Sitting in on the conference were Albert A. Grubb, bridge design engineer, and Norman O. Pritchett, chief engineer for the State Roads Commission.

Senator See said the SRC officials recognized that the replacement of the 1908 bridge will be needed more than ever when the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch goes into production.

Cost of the new bridge was estimated roughly as $780,000, including a new approach which would be a city responsibility. Cost to Maryland and West Virginia would be about $280,000 each.

Senator See said work is not expected in 1956 but is likely early in 1957.

Bean Backs Plan

Each of the South Cumberland businessmen pointed out reasons why the replaceemnt of the span is urgent for the future of the Cumberland area.

It was built 47 years ago for horse-drawn vehicles and pedestrians and has a floor width of only 15 feet—one foot short of the legal limit.

The 1936 flood removed one section of the bridge, they reported, and the temporary span which replaced the swept-away section has deteriorated.

Firms in South Cumberland, they added, are forced to route heavy trucks through the center of the city to use the Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge since the old span has a 20,000-pound weight limit.

Backing the project is Senator Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield, who has informed Sen. See he has asked the West Virginia SRC to designate the priority of the bridge in that state's road program.

City's Best Optimist Honored

City Police Officer John Henry "Ditty" Stitcher (left), receives the Optimist Club's award as the "Most Optimistic Person in Cumberland" from Kenneth Inskeep, chairman of the award committee, as Juvenile Magistrate Morris Baron looks on. Baron was principal speaker at the program, which took place last night at the club's ladies night dinner at Central YMCA.

Nine Voting Machine Talks Planned In Rest Of Month

Representatives of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors already have made six talks on voting machines so far in November and nine more demonstrations are planned for the rest of the month.

Tonight two voting machine talks will be presented. John R. Kelly, Democrat custodian of the machines, will present a program to the North Branch Homemakers at 7:30 o'clock at the North Branch Fire Hall. At 8 o'clock, Matthew J. Mullaney, Democrat member of the board, will discuss the new devices at a meeting of St. Mary's Mothers' Club at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Next week there will be five programs on tap. William A. Wilson, board chairman, will talk to the Piney Plains PTA at the school at 7:30 p. m. November 14. Mullaney will address the United Democratic Woman's Club of Allegany County at 8 p. m. November 15 at Central YMCA.

Three appearances are scheduled for November 17. Edward P. Kaylor, clerk of the Board of Election Supervisors, will talk to the Maplesside Homemakers, meeting at Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church, at 1:30 p. m. Mullaney will appear at the meeting of the East Side PTA at the school at 8 p. m. Another program is planned for the Ellerslie PTA at the school at 7:30 p. m. but the speaker has not yet been designated.

Kelly will discuss voting machines at a meeting of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, November 22, and Wilson will speak to the Auxiliary of Letter Carriers, meeting at the LaVale home of Walter Alexander, at 8 p. m. November 29.

One December program and another in early January also are among the future activities.

Rev. W. H. Kohn Will Speak At Local Church

Rev. William H. Kohn, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Hyattsville, and president of the Southeastern District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, will be guest speaker in a special service at Trinity Lutheran Church, North Centre Street, Sunday evening at 7:30.

He will speak on the theme "Our Venture of Faith" and will report on the results of a conference held in St. Paul, Minn., of representatives from all sections of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod last July.

Visitations are being made in all congregations of the church body to bring to the attention of the entire membership the various projects of the church at large. The rapid growth of the church has made necessary an increased activity on the part of all congregations.

Trinity congregations, Rev. G. A. Wagner, pastor, through its church council is calling for a special meeting on November 21 to study the matters which will be presented by Rev. Kohn.

Pastor Kohn was elected president of the Southeastern District for a three-year term in the spring of 1954 and is perhaps the youngest district president of the Missouri Synod-Lutheran Church.

State Leader To Confer With Principals Here

Physical Education Will Be Discussed

Herbert R. Steiner, state supervisor of physical education and recreation, will meet with all of the Allegany County public elementary school principals at 10 a. m. today for a discussion of ways in which the physical education program for elementary school pupils can be made more effective.

Steiner met here yesterday with Miss Winifred Greene and Miss Mildred E. Willison, county elementary school supervisors. They visited several schools, among them Parkside, LaVale and Virginia Avenue, to discover ways in which the playground space can be used more effectively.

The elementary school supervisors emphasized that physical education means much more than simply playing a few games such as baseball and basketball on the school grounds. It involves all types of directed play and includes such things as health instruction, skill games, rhythm games, singing games and folk dancing.

Questions asked by the principal will govern much of today's program. Steiner will return to Cumberland several more times during the school year and will meet with small groups of principals and teachers.

Today's program is the third involving all of the elementary school principals in three weeks. The first was directed by Mrs. Grace A. Dorsey, state supervisor of elementary schools. The second last week was in charge of Dr. George Murphy, director of the reading clinic at Pennsylvania State University.

Road Contract Sessions Slated

A series of meetings will be held in Baltimore today by unions and contractors to discuss a contract covering highway and heavy construction in Maryland.

Attending from Cumberland will be C. E. Bramble, president of Teamsters Local 453 and recording secretary of the Road and Highway Trades Council of Maryland; F. Patrick Allender, business agent of Carpenters Local 1024; Robert Weaver, business agent of Laborers Local 616, and Harry Hickle, business agent of Local 37-B, Operating Engineers.

The local committee, composed of officials of the four AFL Crafts engaged in highway work, will meet today at 10 a. m. in the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel.

A joint meeting with contractors who do road work will follow at 2 p. m.

Plans for today's session were made yesterday as the union's area committee, including international officials of the unions met to formulate policy.

The crafts and contractors got together two years ago on a contract setting up special working rules and wage rates for road work, designed to allow state contractors to compete with out-of-state firms.

City Collects 70 Per Cent Of Its Levy

The City of Cumberland completed a third of its current fiscal year on October 31 with 70 per cent of its levy collected and spending right at par, according to a report isued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

Total collections at the end of the four - month period were $1,117,415.44, leaving $478,214.56 to come in during the next eight months.

Collections on the tax levy were even better—77½ per cent. The report showed tax collections of $874,432.35 and leaving $254,067.65 to come in from a $1,128,500 tax levy.

Part of the uncollected tax levy are corporation taxes, which cannot be billed until assessments are forwarded by the State Tax Commission.

The use of funds appropriated for city operations was about as normal as anybody could wish.

The $450,368.88 spent for the four months is exactly 33.35 of appropriations, par for the end of October is 33.3 per cent.

Local Woman's Death Ruled Accidental

Miss Marion Laley, 84, Dies Of Burns

The death of Miss Marion Laley, 84, of 12 Humbird Street, who died Tuesday as a result of shock and burns about her body, has been ruled accidental by Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Authorities said evidence of burns about her shoulder and face were found, although the home did not catch fire, and there was no trace of fumes.

The victim lived alone in a five-room dwelling. Dr. Deming said Miss Laley died of shock and third and fourth degree burns over approximately four-fifths of her body.

Died Tuesday

He said the time of death was approximately 5 p. m. Tuesday. She was discovered on the floor of her kitchen yesterday at 9 a.m. by Mrs. Frank Long and Mrs. Herman Athey, who reside next to the victim's home.

Dr. Deming gave this version of the accident: Miss Laley, who used a hot plate to cook her food, started to prepare her evening meal when her clothing caught fire. She turned the hot plate off, started for a window, and then went to a corner where two buckets of water were located. She apparently attempted to tear off her clothing, as a pile of charred clothes were found next to her body. During her struggle to put out the blaze, she fell to the floor and died of shock and burns, Dr. Deming said.

Kept Watch

Mrs. Athey said that she looked in on Miss Laley from time to time, and Tuesday heard moans from the home. After noticing no activity in the home Tuesday evening and yesterday, Mrs. Athey and Mrs. Long went over to investigate and found the aged woman on the floor of her kitchen in the rear of the building.

Police authorities were summoned, and had to break the front door to gain entrance to the home.

Miss Laley was a native of Town Creek, and a daughter of the late James and Ellen (Athey) Laley.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Many Political Figures Share In SRC Fees

Buscher Releases 239 Lawyers' Names

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9 (AP)—Sixteen members of the General Assembly, 10 of the 23 state's attorneys and a large number of other politicians were included today in a list of 239 lawyers who share in State Roads Commission legal fees.

The long list of lawyers doing title search and condemnation suit work for the State's highway programs was furnished upon request by Joseph D. Buscher, special assistant attorney general for the roads commission.

Fee paid lawyers hired by the commission on a contractural basis totaled $137,000 last year. They ranged from $15 to $9,775 with most fees ranging from $200 to $1,500.

The top fee on the 1954 list went to former State Sen. J. Bailey, St. Marys County Republican, who received $6,475 for title search work and $3,300 for legal services in condemnation cases.

Bailey said politics does not enter into the awarding of legal work and said he still is performing work for the roads commission. He said he could not understand why his name was missing from the 1955 list.

Others prominent in Maryland politics who are on the list are former State senator and circuit court judge E. Dale Adkins of Wicomico County; William C. Walsh of Cumberland, former attorney general; John Reeves, former secretary of state; Neil C. Fraley, former State senator now a judge in Garrett County, and the law firm of Lane, Bushong and Byron, of which former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. is a member.

Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert's name was on the 1954 roster where it was reported he received $535 in legal fees prior to taking office as attorney general.

The State Roads Commission's 1955 list of attorneys and law firms hired by the commission for title searchs or condemnation work in roads projects included:

Odom Faces U. S. Charge In Swindle

$20,000 Bond Set; Two Are Released In Green Theft Case

Harold Paul Odom, 60, who was freed yesterday as a suspect in the $27,000 Lee Green burglary of six years ago, now is being held in the County Jail in default of $20,000 bond on a federal charge of participating in the embezzlement of $423,771 from a Rochester, N. Y. industrialist.

Meanwhile, James Walter Golden, 45, who was arrested with Odom near Baltimore by the FBI October 12, was freed from the County Jail yesterday afternoon after county authorities said they lacked sufficient evidence against the two men in the Green burglary. Golden's destination was unknown when he drove away from the jail.

U. S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett set the federal bond for Odom at $20,000 at a hearing in his office yesterday afternoon after postal inspectors informed him that two other men arrested in New York City on the embezzlement charges also are being held under $20,000 bonds. He is being held for the Federal District Court for the Western District of New York at Albany.

Will Go To New York

William C. Walsh and his son, William Walsh, were attorneys for Odom at yesterday's hearing before Commissioner Avirett. The U. S. marshal at Albany is expected to instruct the U. S. marshal in Baltimore to pick up Odom at the jail here and arrange for his transportation to New York state.

They were arrested October 12 by the FBI in Baltimore on a warrant obtained by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

A federal warrant was filed against Odom yesterday morning with Sheriff Edward R. Muir for Odom's arrest.

Two men were arrested last Thursday in New York and accused of swindling Augustine Cunningham, 77, of Rochester, N. Y., of $423,771 in a bizarre plot stemming from the 1929 stock market crash.

Monday, petitions for immediate trial in the Green case were filed by counsel for Odom and Golden—William C. Walsh, Willian Walsh, William L. Wilson, Edward J. Ryan and Thomas B. Finan.

A court order was signed by Chief Judge George Henderson setting the trial of the two men for November 23.

Statement By Fletcher

State's Attorney Fletcher early yesterday afternoon issued the following statement in connection with the release of the two men:

"James Golden and Paul Odom have been in the custody of Allegany County authorities in connection with the charge of burglary of the home of A. Lee Green in LaVale in October of 1949.

"Because of insufficient evidence at this time, the sheriff of Allegany County has been notified to release both men."

The federal charge against Odom, according to the Post Office Department, stems from the alleged embezzlement of the aging industrialist.

The two men arrested by federal authorities last Thursday, Patrick H. Lennon, 50-year-old ex-convict, and Leo F. Hampton, 74, both of New York, were the core of a scheme involving eight or nine persons, including a woman, postal authorities informed the Associated Press.

Sought Patent Rights

The Post Office Department said Cunningham paid the money to recover non-existent patent rights of a fictitious scientist after being told he was a beneficiary of the scientist's will.

Authorities described Lennon as "one of the slickest confidence men picked up in a long, long time."

Post Office Department officials told this story:

Cunningham, who had lost $100,000 in the now defunct Intercity Radio and Telegraph Company, in the 1929 stock market crash, was approached about four years ago by one of the group and told he was named as one of several beneficiaries in the will of a "Dr. Randolph Parker."

The "bequests" consisted of rights and benefits supposedly arising out of various electronic patents taken out by Parker. Cunningham was told that the patents had a recovery value of about 60 million dollars but that in order to get the money, it would be necessary to buy up releases from the stockholders of the defunct company.

Thus the industrialist was persuaded to advance $423,771 over a four-year period—or four times the amount he lost on the firm in the crash.

Target Date For Bridge Will Be Set

Senator See Is Told SRC Can Find Funds For Wiley Ford Span

State Senator Charles M. See announced the Maryland State Roads Commission will set by January a target date for the construction of a new bridge across the Potomac River at Wiley Ford.

The Allegany County senator, with Nelson W. Russler, president; Glenn Morris, legislative chairman, and Arthur Weber and Harry Shobe, members of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, yesterday morning met with the full State Roads Commission to urge an early date for the construction of the span.

Senator See said the commission, headed by Russell H. McCain, agreed the obsolete bridge should be replaced.

McCain, he advised, reported he was reasonably certain the commission can secure money to build the bridge without a specific legislative act. It was not included in the 12-year road program.

W. Va. To Share Cost

The target date to be set by the Maryland SRC, Senator See said, is contingent upon the availability of funds from the West Virginia State Road Commission for its share of the costs.

Sitting in on the conference were Albert A. Grubb, bridge design engineer, and Norman O. Pritchett, chief engineer for the State Roads Commission.

Senator See said the SRC officials recognized that the replacement of the 1908 bridge will be needed more than ever when the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch goes into production.

Cost of the new bridge was estimated roughly as $780,000, including a new approach which would be a city responsibility. Cost to Maryland and West Virginia would be about $280,000 each.

Senator See said work is not expected in 1956 but is likely early in 1957.

Bean Backs Plan

Each of the South Cumberland businessmen pointed out reasons why the replaceemnt of the span is urgent for the future of the Cumberland area.

It was built 47 years ago for horse-drawn vehicles and pedestrians and has a floor width of only 15 feet—one foot short of the legal limit.

The 1936 flood removed one section of the bridge, they reported, and the temporary span which replaced the swept-away section has deteriorated.

Firms in South Cumberland, they added, are forced to route heavy trucks through the center of the city to use the Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge since the old span has a 20,000-pound weight limit.

Backing the project is Senator Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield, who has informed Sen. See he has asked the West Virginia SRC to designate the priority of the bridge in that state's road program.

Trinity congregations, Rev. G. A. Wagner, pastor, through its church council is calling for a special meeting on November 21 to study the matters which will be presented by Rev. Kohn.

State Leader To Confer With Principals Here

Physical Education Will Be Discussed

Herbert R. Steiner, state supervisor of physical education and recreation, will meet with all of the Allegany County public elementary school principals at 10 a. m. today for a discussion of ways in which the physical education program for elementary school pupils can be made more effective.

Steiner met here yesterday with Miss Winifred Greene and Miss Mildred E. Willison, county elementary school supervisors. They visited several schools, among them Parkside, LaVale and Virginia Avenue, to discover ways in which the playground space can be used more effectively.

The elementary school supervisors emphasized that physical education means much more than simply playing a few games such as baseball and basketball on the school grounds. It involves all types of directed play and includes such things as health instruction, skill games, rhythm games, singing games and folk dancing.

Questions asked by the principal will govern much of today's program. Steiner will return to Cumberland several more times during the school year and will meet with small groups of principals and teachers.

Today's program is the third involving all of the elementary school principals in three weeks. The first was directed by Mrs. Grace A. Dorsey, state supervisor of elementary schools. The second last week was in charge of Dr. George Murphy, director of the reading clinic at Pennsylvania State University.

Road Contract Sessions Slated

A series of meetings will be held in Baltimore today by unions and contractors to discuss a contract covering highway and heavy construction in Maryland.

Attending from Cumberland will be C. E. Bramble, president of Teamsters Local 453 and recording secretary of the Road and Highway Trades Council of Maryland; F. Patrick Allender, business agent of Carpenters Local 1024; Robert Weaver, business agent of Laborers Local 616, and Harry Hickle, business agent of Local 37-B, Operating Engineers.

The local committee, composed of officials of the four AFL Crafts engaged in highway work, will meet today at 10 a. m. in the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel.

A joint meeting with contractors who do road work will follow at 2 p. m.

Plans for today's session were made yesterday as the union's area committee, including international officials of the unions met to formulate policy.

The crafts and contractors got together two years ago on a contract setting up special working rules and wage rates for road work, designed to allow state contractors to compete with out-of-state firms.

City Collects 70 Per Cent Of Its Levy

The City of Cumberland completed a third of its current fiscal year on October 31 with 70 per cent of its levy collected and spending right at par, according to a report isued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

Total collections at the end of the four - month period were $1,117,415.44, leaving $478,214.56 to come in during the next eight months.

Collections on the tax levy were even better—77½ per cent. The report showed tax collections of $874,432.35 and leaving $254,067.65 to come in from a $1,128,500 tax levy.

Part of the uncollected tax levy are corporation taxes, which cannot be billed until assessments are forwarded by the State Tax Commission.

The use of funds appropriated for city operations was about as normal as anybody could wish.

The $450,368.88 spent for the four months is exactly 33.35 of appropriations, par for the end of October is 33.3 per cent.

Local Woman's Death Ruled Accidental

Miss Marion Laley, 84, Dies Of Burns

The death of Miss Marion Laley, 84, of 12 Humbird Street, who died Tuesday as a result of shock and burns about her body, has been ruled accidental by Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Authorities said evidence of burns about her shoulder and face were found, although the home did not catch fire, and there was no trace of fumes.

The victim lived alone in a five-room dwelling. Dr. Deming said Miss Laley died of shock and third and fourth degree burns over approximately four-fifths of her body.

Died Tuesday

He said the time of death was approximately 5 p. m. Tuesday. She was discovered on the floor of her kitchen yesterday at 9 a.m. by Mrs. Frank Long and Mrs. Herman Athey, who reside next to the victim's home.

Dr. Deming gave this version of the accident: Miss Laley, who used a hot plate to cook her food, started to prepare her evening meal when her clothing caught fire. She turned the hot plate off, started for a window, and then went to a corner where two buckets of water were located. She apparently attempted to tear off her clothing, as a pile of charred clothes were found next to her body. During her struggle to put out the blaze, she fell to the floor and died of shock and burns, Dr. Deming said.

Kept Watch

Mrs. Athey said that she looked in on Miss Laley from time to time, and Tuesday heard moans from the home. After noticing no activity in the home Tuesday evening and yesterday, Mrs. Athey and Mrs. Long went over to investigate and found the aged woman on the floor of her kitchen in the rear of the building.

Police authorities were summoned, and had to break the front door to gain entrance to the home.

Miss Laley was a native of Town Creek, and a daughter of the late James and Ellen (Athey) Laley.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Odom Faces U. S. Charge In Swindle

$20,000 Bond Set; Two Are Released In Green Theft Case

Harold Paul Odom, 60, who was freed yesterday as a suspect in the $27,000 Lee Green burglary of six years ago, now is being held in the County Jail in default of $20,000 bond on a federal charge of participating in the embezzlement of $423,771 from a Rochester, N. Y. industrialist.

Meanwhile, James Walter Golden, 45, who was arrested with Odom near Baltimore by the FBI October 12, was freed from the County Jail yesterday afternoon after county authorities said they lacked sufficient evidence against the two men in the Green burglary. Golden's destination was unknown when he drove away from the jail.

U. S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett set the federal bond for Odom at $20,000 at a hearing in his office yesterday afternoon after postal inspectors informed him that two other men arrested in New York City on the embezzlement charges also are being held under $20,000 bonds. He is being held for the Federal District Court for the Western District of New York at Albany.

Will Go To New York

William C. Walsh and his son, William Walsh, were attorneys for Odom at yesterday's hearing before Commissioner Avirett. The U. S. marshal at Albany is expected to instruct the U. S. marshal in Baltimore to pick up Odom at the jail here and arrange for his transportation to New York state.

They were arrested October 12 by the FBI in Baltimore on a warrant obtained by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

A federal warrant was filed against Odom yesterday morning with Sheriff Edward R. Muir for Odom's arrest.

Two men were arrested last Thursday in New York and accused of swindling Augustine Cunningham, 77, of Rochester, N. Y., of $423,771 in a bizarre plot stemming from the 1929 stock market crash.

Monday, petitions for immediate trial in the Green case were filed by counsel for Odom and Golden—William C. Walsh, Willian Walsh, William L. Wilson, Edward J. Ryan and Thomas B. Finan.

A court order was signed by Chief Judge George Henderson setting the trial of the two men for November 23.

Statement By Fletcher

State's Attorney Fletcher early yesterday afternoon issued the following statement in connection with the release of the two men:

"James Golden and Paul Odom have been in the custody of Allegany County authorities in connection with the charge of burglary of the home of A. Lee Green in LaVale in October of 1949.

"Because of insufficient evidence at this time, the sheriff of Allegany County has been notified to release both men."

The federal charge against Odom, according to the Post Office Department, stems from the alleged embezzlement of the aging industrialist.

The two men arrested by federal authorities last Thursday, Patrick H. Lennon, 50-year-old ex-convict, and Leo F. Hampton, 74, both of New York, were the core of a scheme involving eight or nine persons, including a woman, postal authorities informed the Associated Press.

Sought Patent Rights

The Post Office Department said Cunningham paid the money to recover non-existent patent rights of a fictitious scientist after being told he was a beneficiary of the scientist's will.

Authorities described Lennon as "one of the slickest confidence men picked up in a long, long time."

Post Office Department officials told this story:

Cunningham, who had lost $100,000 in the now defunct Intercity Radio and Telegraph Company, in the 1929 stock market crash, was approached about four years ago by one of the group and told he was named as one of several beneficiaries in the will of a "Dr. Randolph Parker."

The "bequests" consisted of rights and benefits supposedly arising out of various electronic patents taken out by Parker. Cunningham was told that the patents had a recovery value of about 60 million dollars but that in order to get the money, it would be necessary to buy up releases from the stockholders of the defunct company.

Thus the industrialist was persuaded to advance $423,771 over a four-year period—or four times the amount he lost on the firm in the crash.
